IKE FEELING OK; IN 'BUSINESS' SESSION

Dec. 14 Target Date for Opening Of Schoonmaker

Contractor Pushes for Paving on Portion from 17th to 12th Sts.

Weather permitting, a portion of Schoonmaker Ave. — from 17th to 12th Sts. — should be open for traffic by the weekend of Dec. 14, City Council was informed at a regular meeting this morning.

This prediction by acting City Engineer Richard Belan was based on "good weather and no breakdowns in equipment."

The current widening and repaving program from 17th to near Sixth Sts. has blocked off the western entrance to the City, forcing detours for motorists from Belle Vernon, Charleroi and other western points.

Once the street is open to 12th St., motorists will have two entrances to downtown — one via Morgan Ave. near 14th St. and the other via 12th St. down Donner Ave. There will be two-way traffic on Donner Ave. to Sixth St.

Fast-drying Cement

If this portion is open by Dec. 14, the Frank Donatelli Co., Pittsburgh, general contractors, will be slightly ahead of schedule, mainly because of the use of high-early strength cement. This is a quick-drying substance which cures or hardens sufficiently in three or four days for traffic use. Regular-type concrete should set for about 14 days before use.

The City decided to request the state Highways Department to use the high-early substance to expedite the project in order to have the 17th-to-12th street portion ready for Christmas holiday shopping traffic.

The city will have to pay about $1,000 more for requesting the use of the quick-drying material instead of regular-type cement.

The state is in charge of the maintenance of Schoonmaker Ave. and will pay the major cost for the project. The City, however, must pay for the new curbing and sidewalks and any special materials not included in the specifications.

Informed of the "splendid progress" of the project, Mayor Hugo J. Parente praised the general contractors and various utilities for "their cooperation."

Petition Heard

In other business during the brief meeting, Council heard a petition from millworkers in the Park Plan area protesting the discontinuation of a bus trip by Hilltop Bus Line, Monessen. The petition said the bus line has cut off a midnight trip to the Park Plan, thereby depriving workers on the 4 to 12 p.m. shift of transportation to their homes.

Council said it will ask the transit firm to reconsider and also recommend the petition be turned over to the Public Utility Commission investigator for this area.

The City will make application for traffic light signals at the Marion Ave.-Rostraver St. intersection Toussaint's Corners, a six-way intersection.

Council heard the second reading of an ordinance which would "temporarily" prohibit the construction of new buildings if their specifications do not conform with the zoning proposals now being drafted by the City Planning Commission.

A first reading was heard on an ordinance calling for the re-enactment of the present wage income tax.

Nickerson Wins His Point in Missile Dispute

By DREW PEARSON

Decision at long last has been made regarding the red-hot controversy between the Army's intermediate range missile Jupiter and the Air Force's intermediate range missile, the Thor.

The decision is to produce both. This is a sensational victory for Col. John Nickerson of the Army Missile Base at Huntsville, Ala., who was court-martialed when he wrote a secret memo urging that the Army produce the Jupiter. His chief, Secretary of Defense Wilson, had ruled the Army must abandon all work on the Jupiter, which shoots about 1,500 miles, and confine itself to short-range missiles shooting 200 miles.

Nickerson in effect took his case to the public, was court-martialed, and has now been "exiled" to Panama.

But back in Washington the new Secretary of Defense, Neil McElroy, has privately ruled in his favor. The decision will be announced momentarily.

In the backstage byplay which led to the McElroy decision, missile czar William Holaday ruled that the Army's Jupiter should be produced and the Air Force's Thor scrapped. This was because Jupiter has shown better performance tests.

Secretary McElroy, however, overruled his missile czar and decided that both Army and Air Force should produce their respective missiles, though the Jupiter will be tested and used by the Air Force.

Calls for Missile Shake-up

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson called today for a streamlining of the nation's missile and satellite programs as a necessary step in bettering Russia in space weapons.

The Texas Democrat told newsmen the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee which he heads "will have to inquire very carefully into who is running what."

The subcommittee called back Central Intelligence Director Allen W. Dulles and his chief aides for further questioning behind closed doors on what they know about Russia's missiles, Sputniks, war industry and overall military power.

Says Pattern Clear

Johnson said the "one clear pattern that has emerged" in the first two days of the broad investigation is "the extreme difficulty of pinning down lines of authority in the missile and satellite program."

"I do not believe in shaking everything up and turning things upside down," he said. "But we will have to find out how to streamline the organization."

Several scientists testifying so far also have criticized the missile and satellite programs for weaknesses in organization and line of authority.

Hagan Testified

Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the U.S. satellite project Vanguard, Tuesday called for immediate creation of a single government agency to control all satellite and space ship programs.

Hagen also revealed that defense officials in 1955 refused to give the U.S. satellite a top priority. If this had been done, he said, he was sure the Russians wouldn't have been first with their Sputniks.

The scientist agreed with Johnson the United States "took a calculated risk and we lost."

Allen Dulles reported Tuesday that Russia "is encountering growing difficulty" in maintaining its high level of military spending and at the same time improving living conditions of the people.

Seeks Damages in Rostraver Accident

Henry C. Livingston Jr. of Dawson has filed a suit in Westmoreland County Court seeking damages in excess of $2,500 as the result of an auto accident involving a Rostraver Twp. woman.

Named as the defendant is Eva L. Volk, Belle Vernon R. D. 1, Rostraver Twp.

The suit states that Livingston was operating his auto on Route 51 in the township when it was struck by the Volk car last May 27.

Leader Sets Jan. 21 As Special Election For Seat in Congress

Gov. George M. Leader will designate Jan. 21 as the date of a special election in Westmoreland County to fill the congressional seat of the late Rep. Augustine B. Kelley, it was virtually certain today.

Almost as certain was the choice of State Sen. John H. Dent of Jeannette as the Democratic nominee for the post.

Democratic State Chairman Joseph M. Barr told the United Press in Harrisburg that Gov. Leader, now on vacation in Florida, will issue a writ Friday setting the January date.

Barr said the Democratic state executive committee will meet Dec. 9 in Harrisburg to select a nominee.

The Republican choice will be made by the party's county committee under GOP rules. County Chairman Edwin A. Swink of Mt. Pleasant said a date for the committee meeting may be picked later today. He said it probably will be next week.

No Contest

Although Mayor Hugo J. Parente of Monessen was still actively considering the congressional nomination today, Democratic leaders in Greensburg were saying privately that Dent will be the nominee. They indicated that there was no possibility of a contest between Dent and Parente, both of whom are top figures in the county Democratic organization.

The Mayor spent most of yesterday in Harrisburg, returning to Monessen late last night. Before entering a meeting of the City Council this morning, he told a reporter:

"I have not yet removed myself from the picture. This is one of the hardest decisions of my life. I am being urged both ways — to get into the congressional picture and also to stay as mayor of Monessen.

"I want to talk the matter over with my family and friends over the Thanksgiving holiday and probably will have a public announcement as to my decision Friday."

Parente recently was elected to an unprecedented fourth term as mayor. He is also a member of the state Workmens Compensation Board of Review, which pays him a salary of $11,000 a year in addition to the mayor's salary of $3,600. Members of Congress receive $22,500 in salary plus other allowances.

Dent told reporters he definitely will accept the congressional nomination if it is offered to him. He has served in the Senate more than 20 years and has been the party's floor leader in that body for several sessions.

Recently Dent has been mentioned as a possibility for statewide office next year on a ticket

Sam Mannarino Lost in Woods While Hunting

Sam Mannarino, a New Kensington racket figure, rejoined his bear hunting party in Elk County today after being lost for almost a day and a night in dense woods.

Mannarino, 51, who is an experienced hunter, told police he took "a wrong turn" on Monday after separating from the hunting party. He wandered until nightfall, at which time he built a fire.

Shortly after daybreak, Mannarino picked up his rifle and resumed wandering. About 8 a.m. yesterday, he stumbled onto a highway and eventually reached the St. Marys Water Co. pumping station.

Police and firemen from St. Marys had organized a widespread search for the missing hunter.

Another member of the Mannarino family, Gabriel (Kelley) Mannarino, disappeared briefly earlier in the month. But he was turned up by New York state police at Apalachin, N. Y., apparently a delegate to what officers billed as an international gangland convention.

Kelley said he talked with brother Sam by phone yesterday.

"He's okay," said Kelley. "He's out hunting again today."

Accompanying Sam Mannarino on his Elk County hunting trip was Al Hanna, a special police officer from New Kensington.

Willowbrook Golf Club Stock Goes To Clairton Man

Stock in the Willowbrook Golf Club Corp. located near the intersection of Routes 51 and 71 has been sold to Arch M. Lhormer, Clairton real estate owner, and members of his family, it was learned today.

No purchase price was disclosed.

Lhormer told The Daily Independent he purchased the stock "purely as an investment."

He said he plans no change in the present operation of the club frequented by many Monessen district persons.

Former stockholders of the nine-hole course include Donald C. Duvall, Monessen; Carl A. Breuer and Thomas Johnson, Belle Vernon, and Paul Flautz and Michael Cushman, R. D., Charleroi.

The transaction was handled through Lhormer's office.

The commission said the orders call for an automatic reduction

Doctors Permit President to Sign Documents

Reaction of national, world leaders .... Page 15

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower's physicians gave him permission this morning to sign 12 relatively minor documents and confer on pending White House business, the White House announced.

The announcement came a few hours after a medical bulletin said the President awoke refreshed, showered and shaved and had a "normal breakfast."

The Chief Executive during the morning spent about 30 minutes in conference with Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, the White House staff secretary, signing official papers and discussing what Press Secretary James C. Hagerty described simply as "White House business."

Hagerty said after the brief "business" session in the President's second floor bedroom that, in his opinion, major decisions could be put up to the President. Hagerty said, however, that Eisenhower's physicians would have to determine how much work the President undertakes.

Hagerty reported the President's activities at a mid-morning news conference.

New Medical Report

A medical bulletin at 8:18 a.m. e.s.t. had said:

"The President slept almost continuously through the night. He awoke refreshed this morning. He took his usual shower and shave and has just had a normal breakfast."

Earlier, at 7:50 a.m. e.s.t. Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the President's physician, had told reporters on entering the White House that "everything is all right."

Snyder told reporters that it was impossible to say whether the President's illness was "a stroke." He said it might have been just "a spasm" of a small cerebral artery and not a clot.

"We wouldn't call it a stroke now," he said.

Hagerty said he and Snyder visited the President briefly shortly after he arose and were joined by Mrs. Eisenhower.

Hagerty said later before TV cameras that he thought the President "looked very well."

He also said that he thought that the President would spend Thanksgiving "here at the White House." The President had planned to spend Thanksgiving at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Keeping a vigil over the President throughout the night were Col. Walter R. Tkach, assistant White House physician, and Capt. Lorene Miller, an Army nurse from Walter Reed Medical Center here.

Hagerty said the President's slight speech impairment that re-

Man Injured in Traffic Crash On Route 906

Raymond Ronk, 33, of 529 Fayette St., Belle Vernon, was reported in fair condition today at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital where he was taken yesterday following a traffic accident.

State police said Ronk's auto crashed into the rear of a pickup truck driven by John Bradica, 17, of 1045 Highland Ave., Monessen. The truck was parked without lights in the southbound lane of Route 906 about a mile south of Monessen.

The Ronk car bounced into several guard rails following the initial impact and was completely demolished, police said. Bradica was not injured.

The mishap occurred at about 5:45 p.m.

According to a hospital spokesman, Ronk is suffering from cuts and bruises about the body.

District to Observe Thanksgiving In Traditional Holiday Fashion

The Monessen district will pause tomorrow to observe Thanksgiving in traditional fashion.

Following church services, most families are expected to enjoy the usual holiday feast. That has been the American custom since the Pilgrim fathers originated Thanksgiving Day about 300 years ago.

Food store proprietors report that district families will pretty much follow the traditional Thanksgiving menu: turkey, sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie.

And food prices would seem to indicate that this year's feast will cost just about the same as last year's. Supermarkets in Monessen are offering turkey at 45 cents a pound if the bird is under 8 pounds; 39 cents per if it is 10 to 18 pounds and 35 cents per if it is over 18 pounds.

Prices for the rest of the meal are about the same as a year ago, too.

According to the weather bureau, it will rain tonight. Tomorrow is expected to be cloudy and cool.

Practically all stores and business places will close in observance of the Thanksgiving holiday. There will be no issue of The Daily Independent tomorrow.

The Charleroi office of the Employment Service will be closed. All claimants scheduled for tomorrow will report as instructed on their last previous visit.

The U.S. Post Office will close along with all other government and city offices.

The religious aspect of the holiday will be emphasized in the Monessen district again this year. Protestant churches in Monessen, Rostraver Twp., Belle Vernon and Fayette City plan community services of Thanksgiving.

Catholic and Orthodox Churches will conduct their regular daily morning services. Many priests have asked their parishioners to make a special effort to attend services tomorrow even though Thanksgiving isn't a religious holiday for either Catholic or Orthodox worshippers.

In Belle Vernon, the joint Protestant service will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. in the Free Methodist Church.

The Rev. James Percy of the Lynnwood Lutheran Church will preach the sermon at the service which will be sponsored by the Belle Vernon Ministerial Association.

Protestant Churches in Rostraver Twp. will hold their joint service tomorrow at 10 a.m. in Rehoboth Presbyterian Church. The message will be delivered by Rev.

Mamie Stays at President's Side; Third Such Ordeal in Two Years

WASHINGTON (UP)—Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, a proven soldier in her own right, stayed near the President's side today through the third such personal ordeal she has undergone in two years.

With her telephone turned off and the White House staff intruding as little as possible, the 61-year-old first lady maintained her wifely post in the subdued second floor suite where the President sought recovery from a "cerebral occlusion."

Just as in 1955 when he suffered a heart attack and again in 1956 when he underwent an intestinal operation, she was close to his bedside most of the day and night.

One variation this time was the fact that, knowing the President's condition, she managed to hostess a state dinner for the King of Morocco Monday night with few of the guests able to detect she knew the President suffered more than the announced "chill."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who sat next to the first lady at the state dinner, said he detected a "strain." But he described her performance as one of the most "courageous" he had ever seen.

Mrs. Eisenhower

Other guests said the first lady did not seem "particularly concerned"—an apparent tribute in view of Tuesday's public announcement that the "chill" was connected with a cerebral attack. She did not leave her guests until the usual time of about 11 p.m. e.s.t.

Tuesday the first lady spent a good part of the day with the President and chatting with their son Maj. John S. Eisenhower who also was at the White House all day Tuesday.

The White House Tuesday quickly postponed the first big White House reception of the winter season scheduled Dec. 3. It also was clear Mrs. Eisenhower would not be undertaking any other social commitments in the next few days or weeks that would take her out of the White House or away from the President's side.

sulted from the cerebral clot was noticeable only when the Chief Executive tried to pronounce long words. Hagerty said the President laughed about it when he occasionally tripped upon a difficult word.

Asked if there were any impairment of memory, Hagerty said he saw no signs of any. He said the Chief Executive talked with him about old friends whom Hagerty had seen on his trip to Paris.

Hagerty had been in Paris checking on arrangements for next month's summit meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which Eisenhower had planned to attend. Hagerty arrived back in Washington Tuesday night.

The United States announced in Paris today that Vice President Richard M. Nixon would attend the NATO meeting in Eisenhower's place if other NATO leaders agree to go ahead with the meeting, scheduled to begin Dec. 14.

But Hagerty still would not say flatly that the President would not attend the NATO meeting. Nor would he comment on reports that Nixon would go in place of the President.

The White House stood for the time being on a State Department announcement Tuesday assuming that the President would not be able to attend.

Hagerty said he did not know whether additional examinations would be held today by the corps of neurological specialists who examined the President Tuesday.

When Snyder entered the White House at 7:50 this morning, he was asked if the President's illness could be classified as a stroke.

He replied that "nobody can tell that it's anything more than a spasm of a small cerebral artery.

A reporter asked if Snyder meant that such a spasm was not a kind of stroke.

"There's no doctor up to this moment who can tell you it's a stroke," Snyder said.

Enters Crucial Stage

The President entered the possibly crucial stage of his illness today.

Eisenhower's physicians believed the President has an excellent chance to recover from a mild stroke that has had a slight but temporary effect on his speech.

However the doctors kept a close watch because in some cases a mild stroke is followed by a more severe one. The general feeling among medical authorities was that the next two or three days should determine the pattern of Eisenhower's latest illness.

The President's sudden setback that struck Monday afternoon after he had greeted King Mohammed V of Morocco at National Airport in chilly weather was described officially as "an occlusion of a small branch of a cerebral (brain) vessel." This is medical terminology for a "mild stroke."

Nixon In Charge

With the President ill, the reins of government were held firmly by Sherman Adams, presidential assistant, with Vice President Richard M. Nixon active in White House huddles and plans for future steps.

Nixon, who would become president in event of Eisenhower's death or "inability" to perform his duties, rejected suggestions that the President resign or that Nixon assume some of his powers.

He said any major problem on which the President alone can act "can be put to him." He foresaw "no decision that needs to be made that would be in any way injurious to his health."

Despite the calm front assumed by the President's official family, Tuesday's news of his brain artery injury had worldwide repercussion. Some of the top developments were:

—The stock market wiped out five billion dollars in stock values in the 20 minutes between the time of the White House announcement and the market's closing.

NATO Trip Canceled

—Eisenhower's planned trip to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) "summit" conference in Paris next month was canceled.

—All the President's appointments for the foreseeable future were canceled including talks with the visiting King of Morocco and the planned visit next month of the President of Chile, which was called off.

The President's official family seemed determined not to let any of these problems bog down in inaction.

While virtually every competent medical authority contacted said the official description of the illness was that of a light or mild "stroke," the President's doctors refused to call it that.

Injury Termed Mild

The President's own doctors, in the first medical report divulging his brain artery injury at about 3 p.m. e.s.t. Tuesday, said his condition was "mild" and "expected to be transitory in nature."

But they said it would "require a period of rest and substantially decreased activity estimated at several weeks."

Later their diagnosis was confirmed almost word for word by four neurologists called in from here and New York for consultation. The neurologists, in a 6 p.m. bulletin, termed the illness "mild and transitory."

Ike's '56 Promise Is Recalled by Reporters

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — "And when I feel that I can't carry . . . on," the President said, "I won't be there."

The President was Dwight D. Eisenhower. The occasion was his White House news conference of March 7, 1956, in which the President discussed his decision to seek a second term and his physical ability to do the work.

"I have said," Eisenhower added later in the conference, "unless I felt absolutely up to the performance of the duties of the President, the second that I didn't, I would no longer be there in the job or I wouldn't be available for the job.

"I have promised them (the American people) that, as a matter of fact."

Clarification Sought

A reporter pressed for more specific information as to the President's intentions in the event of illness; would he withdraw from the campaign or leave the White House if he had been elected?

"Well, now," Eisenhower replied, "don't hold me down if I get a week's case of the 'flu or something else."

The President said he paid more attention to non-medical advice and his own feelings than to what the doctors had to say about his fitness to run for a second term. The panel of physicians, headed by Dr. Paul Dudley White, had said on Feb. 14, 1956, that they did not foresee any "medical" reasons why Eisenhower would be unable to serve out a second term.

As of today, the President's physicians prescribe for him several weeks of decreased activity. Important business already has been cancelled or postponed. The President's journey to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Paris next month is out.

Whether the President is as confident today as he was in February, 1956, that he can "now perform as well as ever I have all the important duties of the presidency" has become the nation's most important political question. The implications are obvious.

headed by Lt. Gov. Roy Furman of Washington County as a candidate for governor. Dent has been boosting Furman privately even though Gov. Leader opposes the Washington countian.

If Dent won the congressional seat, that would take him out of the state picture next year, assuming he would run later for a full two-year term in Congress.

The Jan. 21 special election will be for the unexpired portion of Kelley's term, which runs to Jan. 3, 1959. At the May primary candidates will be nominated for the full term by the voters of both parties.

Dent and Parente are the only Democrats receiving serious consideration, a well informed party leader told The Daily Independent today. This source said there was no possibility that the nomination could go to Joseph M. Loughran, a former assistant district attorney who split with the courthouse organization early this year. Loughran was beaten in an independent campaign for common pleas judge and then returned to the fold for the general election.

Republicans, outnumbered two to one in Westmoreland County, are reported to be casting around for an attractive candidate.

A representative of the GOP National Congressional Campaign Committee was said to be interviewing party leaders throughout the county. The only Republican said to be definitely available as of today is Herbert O. Morrison, Scottdale news broadcaster who ran twice against Kelley and was defeated both times.

The central office, to be located at the corner of Broad Ave. and Cherry Alley, will be in operation by 1959. Alex Basits, president of Belle Vernon Council, took the second spadeful, representing the borough's burgess, William Venneri. Looking on were Bell Telephone officials and civic leaders.

Medical Terms Are Explained to Layman

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has suffered what doctors generally call a "minor cerebrovascular accident." In layman's language that's a mild stroke.

Medical authorities agreed today his chances for complete recovery are excellent. They said it is quite likely his only symptom—a slight difficulty in speaking—will clear up within a week or two leaving no permanent after-effects.

The chief cause for concern in a mild stroke, according to a dozen eminent specialists consulted by the United Press, is that sometimes it may be followed rather quickly by a more severe one. This usually does not happen. It is the exception rather than the rule.

The concensus was that the next two or three days will be important in clarifying the probable pattern of the President's illness.

Physicians attending the President have avoided the word "stroke" in describing the President's condition, possibly because of the scary connotation it has to many. The official diagnosis given in White House medical bulletins was "an occlusion of a small branch of a cerebral vessel."

Outside doctors said this simply means there has been an interruption of blood flow to part of the brain. All such interruptions, they said, fall into the medical category of 'cerebrovascular accidents."

Brain cells, even more than other parts of the body, require a constant flow of blood in order to function properly.

The seriousness of a stroke depends on what causes the interruption of blood flow, how long it lasts and what area of the brain is affected.

The worst kind of cerebrovascular accident is the rupture of a blood vessel which produces a hemorrhage in the brain. This is what killed President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1945. White House physicians said Tuesday night, after extensive neurological examinations, that President Eisenhower had not suffered a hemorrhage.

The official medical bulletin described the President's condition as "an occlusion." This means a blood vessel was blocked.

Fayette Ambush Slaying Trial

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP)—William Plichta, 19, will be called to trial in Fayette County court Monday for the ambush slaying last Oct. 5 of Thomas W. Brownfield.

A murder indictment was returned Tuesday against the defendant. State police said he has confessed shooting down Brownfield as the victim and Mrs. Margaret Tate, 34, got out of an automobile at Mrs. Tate's home in the village of Brownfield.

Police said the youth had been dating Mrs. Tate's daughter, Alice Faye, 17. When the mother sent her daughter to Ohio, Plichta blamed Brownfield and Mrs. Tate for the separation.

School Boards to Reorganize Monday

As required by law, all School Boards in the Monessen area and throughout the rest of Pennsylvania will hold reorganization meetings Monday.

The Monessen Board will reorganize at 6 p. m., have dinner and then meet at 8 o'clock for the regular December meeting.

President John Lancas is expected to be succeeded by the present secretary, John Kossar. It has been the custom here for directors to move up to the presidency through the chair.

Holiday Traffic Rush Begins in Nation Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

The crush of travelers heading for traditional Thanksgiving family feasts begins tonight, and for many it will mean a four-day holiday.

Law enforcement authorities braced for the anticipated increase in highway traffic throughout the four-day period.

For millions of Americans, Thanksgiving Day will start with church services in a tradition that began more than 300 years ago at the first Thanksgiving at Plymouth, Mass.

Special donations will be taken up at many of the church services to aid the needy at home and abroad.

Then comes the traditional turkey dinner, and the nation's farmers have turned out the biggest crop of gobblers in history to grace the festive board.

State to War On Parakeets in Area Counties

The state Department of Health has ordered the destruction of a number of parakeets in Washington and Greene counties.

Dr. F. E. Coughlin, regional medical director for the department, said about 75 birds are known to be suffering from psittacosis, a contagious wasting disease of birds.

Dr. Caughlin said samples of 12 parakeets were sent to Harrisburg for examination after a case of psittacosis in a human was reported recently just out of Washington, Pa. The medical director was informed this week that the 12 birds were "positive", meaning they had psittacosis.

All infected birds in the two counties have already been placed in isolation and will be destroyed, according to Dr. Coughlin.

Arguments for New Turnpike Trials Continue

HARRISBURG (UP) — Defense attorneys today continued their arguments for new trials for five persons convicted in the Pennsylvania Turnpike conspiracy scandals.

Chief defense attorney Earle V. Compton took up virtually all of Tuesday's session in Dauphin County Court, presenting 21 reasons for a declaration of a mistrial.

He argued that trial Judge Homer L. Kreider was "biased and prejudicial" to the defendants, failed to stop state attorneys from "brow-beating" witnesses, and failed to accord the defendants a fair trial.

Seeking a new trial or reversal of the guilty verdicts returned last July 25 are former Commission Chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale; former Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export; Paul J. McNeill, West Reading, former turnpike finance director; Charles W. Stickler Jr., president of the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., Reading, and Clayton A. Landsidle, Shillington, Manu-Mine vice president.

Moscow Silent on President's Illness

LONDON (UP)—Moscow Radio reported President Eisenhower's illness without comment today.

The story of the illness was the only foreign news item in the Moscow news broadcast. It gave a factual report on the medical bulletin and did not speculate on effects of the illness.

The young farmers earned some $700 as a result of the project.

Harry Crawley Winner of Final Football Contest

Harry K. Crawley, 514 Tenth St., Monessen, won The Daily Independent's final football contest of the season.

He picked 11 winners in 12 games to earn first prize money of $15.

Crawley's only miscue was the Pittsburgh Steeler - Green Bay Packer game. He picked the favored Steelers.

Two other Monessen readers picked all but two games correctly. They were Lawrence G. Spiegelberg, 381 Schoonmaker Ave., and Ronald Duda, 257 Linden Ave.

Under contest rules, Spiegelberg won second place money of $7.50 by correctly guessing 46 as the highest number of points scored by a winning team. Duda earned $5 for his third place finish.

Spiegelberg guessed wrong on Michigan and Oregon while Duda miscued on Minnesota and the Washington Redskins.

Files for Divorce

Mary Lou Evans of Monessen has filed a divorce suit in Westmoreland County Court, charging her husband Raymond H. Evans, now of Fayette City, with indignities. They were married in Donora, May 16, 1957.

Rotary, 4-H Clubs in Capon Round-up Here

A hundred persons attended the annual capon round-up of the Monessen Rotary club and the Rostraver Township 4-H club in the First Methodist Church last night.

The affair brings to a close each year the capon raising projects of the young district farmers under sponsorship of the Monessen service club. The 4-H members, parents and advisers, together with the wives of Rotarians were guests at the round-up.

The young farmers this year raised approximately 150 capons as their club activity, caring for them, keeping records on them and preparing them for market. Sales of some $700 rewarded the 4-H members for their work.

Rotarians last night purchased about 70 of the finest birds from the year's flock, including those of first prize winner Harry Byers, second winner Eleanor Stark and third winner Paul Smith.

Guest speaker at the affair was Dr. T. W. Kwok, Chinese scholar and former diplomat, now a securities analyst of Pittsburgh. Dr. Kwok contrasted the ancient Thanksgiving festivals of pre-war China with the complete absence of any spirit of Thanksgiving in present day Communist China. Young Americans, he suggested, can well give thanks continually for the plenty their country provides and for the freedom to enjoy such plenty.

Joseph Thurston, Westmoreland County farm agent, congratulated the 4-H members on their work and commended the Rotary club for its continued interest in the project.

Miss Stark, president of the 4-H club, and Mrs. John Byers, expressed the appreciation of the club members and the parents for Rotary sponsorship.

Dr. J. Karl Beery, chairman of the rural-urban committee of Rotary, supervised arrangements for the round-up. The Rev. Abner Richard, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, asked the invocation. Denver Rhome played at the organ during the dinner.

The Shortcomings Of High Schools

HERBERT Hoover, the former President, made some sage observations the other day about our public high schools.

It is his thought that present-day high school students have too much latitude in the choice of subjects and that many of them tend to choose easy subjects and avoid hard ones, particularly mathematics and science.

The result is that we are sending not only too few students to the engineering and scientific colleges, but the ones we send are too often inadequately prepared.

This idea, of course, is not original with Mr. Hoover. College and university educators have been saying about the same thing for years. Many a college freshman has to spend a good part of his year acquiring basic skills which he should have acquired in high school. Such as learning to study, to express himself in grammatical English and to speak coherently.

* * *

WE NEED to recognize, however, that the fault does not lie entirely with the high schools although certainly there is room for improvement in nearly all of them. But because of our national concept that every child should have a high school education, regardless of his abilities or interests, the teacher often finds herself dealing with classes a large percentage of whose students have no plans for education beyond the high school.

The result is that the presentation of the subject matter is often necessarily inadequate for those students who are being prepared for college. The common denominator which the teacher feels she must settle for is not high enough for purposes of advanced education.

The obvious answer is not just more students going on to college, which might not be the right answer at all. The answer lies in better preparation for those students who are interested in and qualified for higher education.

We think America is rich and resourceful enough both to educate its masses to an increasingly higher level of knowledge and at the same time to train for leadership those who have the capacity and the ambition for it.

This will require some recasting of the philosophies of our public school systems. It will also require more money than we are now spending on public education.

But the alternatives to this rearrangement are not acceptable.

All Strikes Hurt

AT LEAST one of Pittsburgh's newspapers is pretending to be horrified because a leader of the union which is conducting the bus and trolley strike said part of the union's strategy is to keep the public walking and thereby exert pressure for a settlement favorable to the union.

This is a strike against the public, says the Pittsburgh Press editorially. And it goes on to make the point that a strike is a contest between an employer and employes and shouldn't hurt innocent people.

That seems to us to be somewhat naive in this day and age. It's been a long time since we heard of a strike which didn't hurt anybody except those directly involved in the dispute which caused it.

True, a strike in a public service facility perhaps inconveniences more people than does a strike, say, in a manufacturing operation. But the difference is really one of degree rather than of principle. The modern strike is not a precise weapon whose effects can be pinpointed; it is a vicious blunderbuss which scatters its wounding effects without much discrimination.

Someday, we feel sure, labor and management will find a way to eliminate strikes as a means of settling their differences. If they don't, the public may find it for them.

Give Thanks

THANKSGIVING is one national festival in which Americans can join without regard for the differences among them as groups and individuals.

We are "one nation under God, indivisible". And our God has been good to us as a people beyond our desserts or our ability to repay.

But we can thank Him as our national forefathers did at the first Thanksgiving. And in the great richness of our blessings we can make our thanks at least as warm and humble and heartfelt as the Pilgrims made theirs in the bleakness of their poverty.

Merry-Go-Round—

Congressmen Quiz Brass On Missiles

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Congressman Dan Flood of Pennsylvania and Robert Sikes of Florida, both Democrats, chewed out high Defense Department officials like Marine sergeants training recruits at Parris Island when they heard about some of the lags in the satellite-missile program.

Mr. Pearson

The public was barred from the two-day electric-charged sessions. However, here are some of the things the congressmen heard which made them indignant.

The United States was producing four Thor intermediate ballistic missiles per month, when Eisenhower economy cut it down to two.

When Pennsylvania's Dan Flood heard this he looked as if he were going to jump down Defense Secretary McElroy's throat. He looked even more explosive when he learned that Russia was already producing and had stockpiled several thousand IRBM's.

While it's true that Russia's intermediate missiles travel only 800 miles as against our range of 1500 miles, the Russian range is ample to knock out all our Strategic Air Command bases overseas. Furthermore, they have missiles, we don't.

By pointing 25 missiles at each U. S. base and firing them simultaneously, the Russians could knock our bases out in Turkey, Italy, Libya, and Western Europe. And one missile is enough to blow a base into smithereens.

Will Allies Panic?

These SAC bases are for the purpose of carrying war to the heart of Russia. They are offensive bases, from which we would launch bomber attacks. These are the much-publicized attacks President Eisenhower has been talking about in his chin-up television broadcasts.

Yet, according to the information given secretly to the House Armed Services Committee, these bases are now almost valueless — thanks to Russia's superior missile development and to our complacency.

"We are so far behind," exclaimed Congressman Sikes, "that it may cause some of our allies to panic."

Secretary of Defense McElroy nodded in agreement.

"I am seriously disturbed," continued Sikes. "You seem completely isolated from what your own people are doing and from what the American people are thinking. What steps are we taking to show our allies that we are catching up with Russia?"

Two Ike Defenders

Congressman Dick Wigglesworth, the sober Millon, Mass., Republican, disagreed however. So did GOP Congressman Errett Scrivner, whose district embraces the stockyards of Kansas, City, Kans.

They defended the administration, argued that the situation was not as dangerous as it seemed, that the Russian Sputnik had no defensive implications, and that the United States couldn't have got ahead any faster even had it spent extra money.

However, even they had a hard time defending the second amazing revelation, namely that the Defense Department had known five months in advance that Russia was going to launch its Sputnik yet didn't let the Army put its six satellites at Huntsville, Ala., into the air first.

Existence of these six satellites was first reported in this column on Oct. 25. The Congressmen, going to Huntsville after they finished quizzing defense officials in Washington, saw these satellites, declared they were no figment of a newsman's imagination. The Army has now been given the green light to launch them.

Men and the Moon

Dr. Edward Teller, father of the H-bomb, has recommended flatly against building a moon rocket as a "scientific stunt." Called in by the White House to review the moon rocket proposals, he decided none of them looked promising enough to justify the expense, suggested holding up construction of a moon rocket until more basic research problems are solved.

This appears to put Teller in about the same position as Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, who was denied a government security clearance because he hung back against producing the hydrogen bomb. Teller testified against Oppenheimer.

Meanwhile, the Russians have already built several rockets which they expect to shoot to the moon. This will give them another head start in the race into space.

Pilgrim's Progress

From Washington—

Washington Comes Alive

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

There is no doubt that post-Sputnik Washington is a different city and a different atmosphere.

Things are beginning to move and, while all motion is not necessarily progress, they are moving in the right direction.

Mr. Drummond

Obviously we are only at the beginning of the tough, tardy, uphill struggle to meet the Soviet challenge. For some time it will be better — and safer — to assume that we are not doing enough than to lightly conclude that there is any danger of doing too much.

Compared with a month ago when the official posture was that nothing had really changed and some White House officials were dismissing Sputnik as a trinket, things are looking up. Here is one instance in which Washington's actions are better than its words.

New Attitude

The following five developments are clearly on the credit side of the ledger and in sum they amount to an encouraging start.

1 — There is a new attitude and a new mood in the White House. It is a mood of self-examination and an attitude of urgency which were absent, at the very least not visible, when the Soviets' scientific surge became apparent for all to see. The first reaction from President Eisenhower sounded like "business as usual" but second and third thoughts have sounded a lot different.

The President has said that events require a radical re-examination of our defense and our security measures. Nothing like this was in the works before Sputnik I and II and before Moscow revealed how near it was to putting the ICBM onto the production line. Sputnik is to our missile program what the Kremlin's rape of Czechoslovakia was to the Marshall Plan. It built the fire. The fire is burning in the White House today.

Killian Respected

2 — Numerous acts implement this atmosphere of urgency: (a) the appointment of M.I.T.'s James R. Killian Jr., a great scientist esteemed by his fellow-scientists, as Assistant to the President will make sure that Mr. Eisenhower now has continuous contact with the whole field of science and technology; (b) Pentagon missile director William M. Holaday has been given increased authority, and this is no doubt only the beginning of reorganization; (c) Defense Secretary McElroy has rescinded his predecessor's cutbacks in basic research; (d) the ceiling on defense spending of appropriated funds has been lifted; (e) Mr. Eisenhower has taken the dollar sign off security by announcing that he will not permit worship of a balanced budget ahead of national survival.

3 — We are witnessing new substance in bi-partisan cooperaton in defense and foreign policy. Secretary Dulles is seeking the counsel of leading Democrats. President Eisenhower is seriously consulting with Adlai Stevenson for the first time since the 1952 election. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson is keeping a check-rein on partisan-minded congressional investigation. The fabric of real bi-partisanship is being repaired.

4 — The President's decision to turn the December meeting of the NATO Council into a meeting of heads of government shows his awareness of the dangers to NATO and the Atlantic alliance. He is acting to restore confidence in American leadership and he alone at this point can do it.

5 — Mr. Eisenhower shows he intends to avoid the mistakes which engulfed the mutual security program last year. There will be no intra-administration squabbling over the budget this time and he is not waiting until the last minute to make his case on foreign aid. He has directed Vice President Nixon to devote the next six weeks, in advance of the opening of Congress, to expounding why economic aid is vital to security and Nixon is doing a powerful job of it.

For three weeks I have been talking to and with all kinds of audiences all across the country and I am convinced that the American people will decisively support whatever the President asks — as long as it is not too little.

The Lighter Side—

Concert Pianist Also Brilliant Financier

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — Sir Francis Cassel, a blond, blue-eyed, heavy sweatered, lanky Englishman who spreads himself medium thin running a farm, a hospital, a potted-plant nursery, race horses, and international financial interests such as oil and nuclear power, is here on another professional labor of love.

He makes his American debut tonight in a piano concert at Carnegie Hall. This is his first visit to the United States, but he can't afford to tarry long: "I'll just see the supermarkets and go home."

He doesn't really think of himself as busy. He works fast, hopping from one business to another, and a typical day goes like this:

Typical Daily Schedule

Up at 7:15 — piano practice for an hour — study the financial papers — practice another hour — tend to farm and nursery business —to London for a hospital administrative meeting — to the races no lunch — back home, piano practice two hours — dinner — to bed and study financial papers—half hour making financial decisions—to sleep.

Sir Francis began playing the piano at age four, gave his first public concert at 17, and has toured Europe as a concert artist. But during the last few years his concerts have been confined to one a year, at London's Royal Albert Hall, which he packs to 7,000 capacity.

Of all his activities, he says, "I like the piano best — but I believe I'm naturally better at finance because it's in my blood."

"is great uncle was Sir Ernest Cassel, a financier of international repute and builder, among other things, of iron ore mines and the great Aswan Dam. His father was judge advocate general and a man who did not think small boys should be seriously interested in the piano.

Heard Finance, Music

From childhood, Francis was accustomed to hearing talk of the ways of finance but he also got an earful of music: "My grandmother was always having people like Paderewski and Melba in to visit." As a result: "I seem to do well financially — even at concerts. Not many people sell out the Albert Hall."

Sir Francis was the first Englishman to play alone at Albert Hall—foreigners had done it but never before an Englishman. This was in 1942. At intermissions, he would hurry out to see how he was doing on the horses. It was fine. During the concert he won, in all, 250 pounds, which at that time was worth about $1,200.

Besides piano and international finance, Sir Francis' interests include: board chairman of Cassel Hospital, which treats functional nervous disorders; owner of Puteridge Nurseries, which he has built up to a 180,000 potted-plant turnover every six months; operator of a farm producing milk, chickens, meat and field crops; race course representative for Miss Dorothy Paget (29 flat racers 20 jumpers).

He insists his theory of life is that "it's better to do a lot of things badly than one thing well" but it hardly seems to fit him. After all, what's he doing badly?

Behind The News—

East Germans May Stop Flight to West

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The East German Communists are getting alarmed over the steady flow of refugees to West Berlin and West Germany.

There are increasing indications that the Communist puppet regime may soon try to stop the flight by isolating West Berlin and tightening control of the border between East and West Germany.

Mr. McCann

If that happens, it may mean serious trouble for West Berlin, which is isolated from West Germany by a 110-mile stretch of Communist-controlled territory.

Two Million Flee East

Since 1949, when West Germany's remarkable economic recovery got really started, about 2 million East Germans have fled the Communist part of the country. Most of them have crossed from East Berlin to West Berlin. The flight has reduced East Germany's population by more than 10 per cent.

The flow of refugees continues at the rate of about 300,000 a year.

Until recently the East German Reds did little to stop the movement. One reason was that East German economy is in a bad state, especially since the Polish revolt, which sharply reduced the amount of raw materials available for factories. Another was that those who fled obviously were enemies of the Communist regime and potential trouble makers.

May Weaken Industry

But now the flight from Red rule seems to have reached the point where its continuance will weaken East German industry.

The refugees arriving in West Berlin and West Germany now include a big proportion of intellectuals and skilled workers. More than half of those who flee are under 25 years of age. Communist officials and members of the militarized Red police are scattered among the older ones.

Any determined Communist move to stop the flight would tend to increase the isolation of West Berlin.

Western officials fear that, for one thing, the Reds as part of an isolation campaign would impede railroad and highway communications between West Berlin and West Germany.

Communications Interference

They also would be expected to interfere with allied airplane communications along the authorized air lanes between Berlin and the western part of the country.

Anxiety of Germans in the western part of the former capital is increased because of fear that the United States might not be willing to hazard a crisis with Soviet Russia by defending them.

This is one of the repercussions, now being felt throughout Western Europe, of Russia's startling successes in the field of nuclear missiles.

It was because of the fear that Berlin might be sacrificed that Willy Brandt, lord mayor of West Berlin, urged in an interview recently that President Eisenhower make a sort of show-the-flag visit to the city when he attends the North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference in Paris next month.

There are reports that the East Germans may start an isolation campaign next week. Allied officials are watching the situation closely. That is about all they can do until the Reds act.

The Woman's View—

Helen Hayes Offers Some Observations

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Helen Hayes, an expert at delivering lines before an audience, produces some lively ones backstage too.

This I discovered in an interview in her dressing room at the Morosco theater, where the woman many consider the first lady of the theater is appearing in a new play, "Time Remembered." The play opened to rave notices for the actress, who at 57 is rounding out 52 years in the theater.

Gay Pauley

Conversation ranged from the chemise silhouette to Sputnik, as Miss Hayes relaxed in a flame red, mandarin-style dressing gown and sipped tea to "warm my gullet."

I thought you'd enjoy some samples of Miss Hayes' observations.

On the chemise—"I remember the teddy. Oh, you mean those baggy dresses . . . not underwear. Well! I haven't seen any woman yet who looks good in them. Was the sack Mr. Dior's final gesture to the world? Ialways heard of him as being a kindly man . . . I don't understand how he could be so cruel."

Admires Dr. Salk

"I am reminded of a speech by Mr. Hoover (the former president) the other day, when he told of all the things we in this nation have given the world. I was sitting next to my good friend, Dr. Salk (Jonas Salk, who produced the polio vaccine). And I said to myself, 'I would rather have YOU than a satellite any day!'"

On bringing up children—"This is a time of terror for parents. There was a blessed day in the Victorian era when the pattern for rearing children was clear cut. Now, we dare not be firm. I used to lose my temper at my little ones . . . and then worry."

Miss Hayes and her husband, playwright Charles MacArthur, who died last year, reared two children. Daughter Mary died at 19, a victim of infantile paralysis. Jamie, an actor, now is a student at Harvard.

Defends Working Wives

On working wives—"Seems to me, a young woman, if disciplined on the job, is more apt to find a balance in living, in work and home."

On advice to the stage-struck—"I have ladled it out by the carload through the year. There are three requisites . . . taste, talent and tenacity. Tenacity will keep those in who should be. And the others will have profited by the experience."

On remarriage for her—"Oh, no . . . not when you've once married the best."

Gillespie-Koontz Rites Announced

Exchanging their nuptial vows in the Church of the Nazarene of Monongahela on Friday evening, Nov. 22, at 7 o'clock were Elizabeth Gillespie and Jerrett W. Koontz.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Gillespie of 104 Garden Ave., Monongahela, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Koontz of Belle Vernon.

The Rev. Paul H. Andree officiated at the service before an altar banked with ferns. Tall lighted tapers held in branched candelabra furnished the only illumination for the candlelight nuptials.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a white floor length gown of nylon tulle and Chantilly lace. It was styed with a sabrina neckline, long lace sleeves pointed at the wrist and bouffant skirt which ended in a chapel sweep. Sequins emphasized the entire gown. She wore a veil of illusion, and carried a white Bible, which was a gift of the Nazarene Sunday School. It was topped with a white orchid entwined with lily of the valley.

Anna Mary Frye served the bride as the honor attendant. She wore a peacock blue chiffon floor length gown with matching headpiece, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue pompons.

Sisters Attend

Bridesmaids were sisters of the bride, Doris Gillespie and Hilda Gillespie Seidel. Both wore vassar rose chiffon over taffeta. Their bouquets were of pink roses and blue pompons.

Fay and Jan Aiello, cousins of the bridegroom, were flower girls. They wore dresses of pink nylon over taffeta. They carried blue baskets of rose petals.

Lonnie Koontz, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Thomas Mori and Gillis Dannels.

Mrs. Gillespie, mother of the bride, selected a blue crepe dress with navy accessories and a pink pompon corsage. The mother of the bridegroom wore light blue acetate, harmonizing accessories and a pink pompon corsage. The grandmother of the bridegroom wore a navy blue suit with matching accessories and a red rose corsage.

Hold Reception

The ceremony was preceded by nuptial music presented by Gordon Rutherford, soloist, and Christina Johnston, organist.

The bride was graduated in 1955 from Monongahela High School and is employed at Business Forms Inc. in Monongahela. Her husband was graduated in 1955 from Rostraver High School and is serving in the U. S. Army.

B'nai B'rith Women Hear Guest Speakers

After a brief business meeting Mrs. Nathan Mishkin, philanthrophy chairman, took charge. She introduced the speaker, Mrs. Jacob Morrison, secretary of District 3 B'nai B'rith Women. Mrs. Morrison of Philadelphia and Mrs. N. N. Holstein of Pittsburgh, past president of the district, both addressed the group.

Mrs. Morrison told of her trip to Europe during which she visited the Steffeny Home in London, England, which is supported by funds from B'nai B'rith. This home houses underprivileged girls and depends almost completely on funds sent by the B'nai B'rith in the United States. She spent some time at the Hillel located on the campus of the University of London. Her itinerary also included Holland, Amsterdam, Belgium, France and Italy. She witnessed many activities of her organization in each country.

Mrs. William Caplan, council president, extended thanks to the guests.

Blue and white was used as the color scheme for the table appointments and luncheon was served by Mrs. Mishkin, Mrs. Peter Schwartz, Mrs. Samuel Fireman, Mrs. Seymour Weiss, Mrs. Cy Rosenberg, Mrs. Sam Mermelstein, Mrs. Herman Weiss and Mrs. Harry Balis.

Big Five Team Never Suits All Fans

Elsewhere on this page today you'll find the 1957 edition of the All-Big Five (Mon Valley) Football Conference team . . . As usual the team won't meet with the approval of everyone . . . There never has been an all-star team that won unanimous fan acclaim . . . Biggest gripe is expected to come from the numerical representation, especially in Donora's case of getting only two players on the first team but the voters followed the recommendations of the coaches as closely as possible and came up with the '57 team . . . There never was a more thankless job than picking all-star squads . . . Enough of that, now to ol' Phil Fumble who is going to take one last stab at the grid games, but only two of them, picking Monessen over Brownsville tonight and Clairton over Wilkinsburg Saturday in the WPIAL AA title tilt.

Beanie Gordon, former Washington High star cager, tabbed by many district cage observers, as one of the finest basketball players to perform in the valley in years, is going great guns at Youngstown College where the Penquin publicity agent is predicting all-time greatness for the ex-Little Prexy ace . . . Former WPIAL basketball stars dot the lineups of many college and service teams like former Farrell star Julius McCoy who was formerly the star performer for Fort Knox, Carnegie Tech's foe last night and his brother Jim McCoy, promising sophomore at Marquette. New Castle's Walt Mangham is also at Marquette, a school which hadn't done much recruiting in this area in the past but apparently the word on the WPIAL cage "gold mine" has reached that area.

Popovich Improved Jacket Mark

Monessen's Johnny Popovich certainly improved on last year's 1-6-1 mark at Waynesburg College with a 3-3-1 record this season . . . Brownsville's Don Martolomucci led the Waynesburg scoring with 35 points despite playing in only six games . . . Ed Galaski, ex-Greyhound, was third behind Ron Anderson, with 12 points . . . Three of those games not on the victory side of the ledger were tough ones for the Jackets eleven, including the 19-19 tie with Geneva, the 13-7 loss to Westminster and the 20-14 defeat at the hands of West Virginia Tech . . . Only the defeat by Center State (Ohio) Teachers was a decisive loss with Waynesburg on the short end of a 44-7 count . . . When Somerset High School topped Portage the other night in the season's finale it marked the first unbeaten season in Somerset history.

Bill Lear, a Monessenite, now transplanted at Yale University, sent us a copy of the Yale News showing Dennis Troychak, former 'Hound gridder in on a key tackle in the Yale-Pennsylvania game . . . Troychak, a senior at Penn, is tabbed "Monessen's only Ivy League gridder" by Lear, who will be disappointed that Monessen and Brownsville are playing tomorrow night instead of Thanksgiving as he was looking forward to a Turkey Day tilt while on vacation . . . Did you see the one about Nick Pietrosante, although only a junior, playing seven years of football for Notre Dame? . . . He played four years at Notre Dame High School in West Haven, Conn., before enrolling at the South Bend school. By the way, he missed most of the Iowa game and ND's running game sputtered, remember?

Minnie Seen Starter as Sophomore

Ronald Minnie, all-WPIAL basketballer at Monessen High a couple of seasons back, looks like a sure starter this season at Westminster College. Minnie is in his sophomore year . . . Incidentally another MHS grad, Felton Brown, has decided to skip basketball this year at Westminster. Instead he'll concentrate on his studies, then go out for track. Felton was a Titan sprint star last season as a freshman . . . Stewart Townsend, who for years directed the basketball fortunes at West Newton High, has taken the heat off of his hand-picked successor Sherman Brizzi. The retired Townsend points out that "Brizzi has a big rebuilding job."

Eight 'Hounds on Big Five Squad

Three Cage Tilts Here Friday

Juniors, Rostraver At 6 p. m.

Three Monessen basketball teams will see action Friday night with Coach Frederick Feldman's local Junior High five meeting Rostraver, the MHS Jayvees, under Coach Caterino clashing with McKeesport's Junior Varsity and Frank Janosik's Greyhound varsity meeting McKeesport to start a rough exhibition grind.

The junior high tilt will start at 6 o'clock, the JV game at 7 o'clock and the varsity clash at 8 o'clock.

Although most valley cage fans eyes will be on the Monessen varsity to see how Frank Janosik's lads stack up against the likes of Charleroi the Junior High game will have considerable local interest.

Starters Not Set

Feldman has not yet selected his 12-player squad from the huge turnout of candidates although Bill Batiste and Tony Romasco, only 'dovers from last year's regulars, have been named co-captain and will form the nucleus of the starting team.

According to Feldman, the locals will be tall but not too much taller than average junior high teams.

Fifteen ninth graders are currently vying for starting berths in addition to Batiste and Romasco with six eighth graders on hand and five seventh graders. (The complete squad will be published here Friday).

RJHS Squad Cut

The "Little Leopards", under Coach George Estok, assisted by Ed Hogan, have cut an initial squad of 50 aspirants to 35 and from this number will select 18 boys to make up the squad.

Eight players have been lost by Rostraver from the Section 3 championship team of last season.

Only veteran Willie Ross will be returning.

Players who have shown promise thus far in practice drills are Tom Newman, Leslie Lunt, Jack Knutilla, Frank Peto, Ralph Conn, Dale Patterson, Robert Kopanic, Glenn Markle, Gerald Bruno, David Safier, Roger Fustich, William Cribbs, Bernard Forsythe and Richard Ross.

A complete list of Rostraver Junior High squad members and special arrangements for playing games (certain days) will appear here Friday.

James (Rab) Currie, Charleroi

West Newton Starting From Scratch—Brizzi

"We're starting from scratch," said West Newton High cage coach Sherman Brizzi, in sizing up the Hornets' prospects for the 1957-58 season.

Gone from last year's team which copped the Section 17 title are such standouts as Eugene Letterio, Bud Morrison, Grady Oatneal, Ray Johnston, Barry McCoy and Andy Kasic. Only Otto Leone will be returning.

In fact even the head coach is new, for Brizzi, who had served as an assistant under long-time Hornet coach S. S. Townsend will be at the head reigns for the first time, assisted by Andy Yartin. Bob Cochenour will pilot the Junior High cagers.

Build Around Leone

Naturally, Brizzi, a Pitt graduate, will try to build around Leone. Others expected to make a strong showing for the starting berths are Lloyd Mauk, Gerald Parker, Duane Lander and Paul Page, all of whom saw action with the varsity last year.

Scott Weddell, James Mayfield, George Lander, Reginald Dixon and Dick Moorhead should also be able to help Brizzi's cause in his debut year at the Hornet helm.

Hoping to catch West Newton napping this season are Perryopolis and Irwin both of whom tied the Hornets for the Section 17 title last season before losing in a special playoff to the Townsendmen. Other section members are Sewickley Township, South Huntingdon and East Huntingdon. Irwin is the section favorite this season with four regulars back.

Following Friday's opener with Scottdale away, the Brizzimen next make their home start against Bellmar on December 3. Then follows exhibitions with East McKeesport, Connellsville, Scottdale, Donora, Elizabeth, Bellmar again and an Alumni game on December 30 before the sectional opener with South Huntingdon on Jan. 3.

The Section 17 home lid-lifter will be against Perry on Jan. 10. Other exhibitions during the season with Ellsworth and Avonworth fill the schedule.

Nick Alatsis High In Finishing Side

Nick Alatsis rolled a 212 single game high and a 516 three-game total was chalked up for Bob Bernardo to pace the Finishing Side Electric League bowling last night.

Match winners were Westinghouse, Reliance and E. C. and M.

Other top scorers were Al Spadafore, Pete Cipriani, Joe Caville and Paul Ventura.

Standings — Westinghouse 26-10, General Electric 23-13, Reliance 18-18, Pitt-Carbon 17-19, E. C. and M. 12-24 and Clark 12-24.

Drahobecky Paces In BM Electric

Andy Drahobecky's 498 and Frank Rubachko's 203 were the top scores in the Blooming Mill Electric League bowling last night as Steves, Joes and Petes copped wins.

Other high scorers were Nick Tonini, Cec Brown, Rudy Cheroki, and Joe Altomari.

Standings — Rays 33-9, Petes 25-17, Joes 20-22, Buds 19-23, Steve 17-25, and Macs 12-30.

Texas A & M Eight-Point Choice; Navy 6

By FRED DOWN

Texas A&M is rated an eight-point favorite over Texas in the top game of Thursday's Turkey program while Navy is a six-point choice over Army in the big game of Saturday's grand climax to the college football season.

Such results combined with a Rice triumph over Baylor and a Mississippi victory over Mississippi State on Saturday, would just about round out the Jan. 1 bowl pairings by pitting Texas A&M against Mississippi in the Sugar and Navy against Rice in the Cotton. The Rose and Orange Bowl pairings have already been determined.

Texas A&M, rated the nation's top team until its 7-6 loss to Rice on Nov. 16, will clinch at least a tie for the Southwestern Conference title if it beats Texas Thursday.

Games Decisive

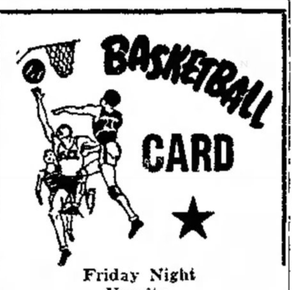
Assuming the Aggies win, Rice will be on the spot Saturday although the Owls are favored by eight points over a Baylor team that hasn't won a conference game this season and is 3-5-1 against all competition. In the event of a Rice victory, the Aggies would have to settle for a Sugar Bowl bid with Rice winning the honor of representing the conference in the Cotton Bowl.

Navy is known to be receptive to a Cotton Bowl bid if it beats Army and the odds-makers rate the Middies that solid one-touchdown favorite to turn the trick. The Cadets will not accept a bowl bid whether they win or lose.

In other Thanksgiving Day "traditionals," Brown is a six-point pick over Colgate at Providence, R.I.; Pennsylvania is rated six over Cornell at Philadelphia; Cincinnati is six over Miami of Ohio at Cincinnati, and Virginia Military Institute is two over Virginia Tech at Roanoke, Va.

Aldrich, O'Toole, Barton First Team; Two on Second

Three Monessen High School gridders were named to the 1957 edition of the Mon Valley Conference (Big Five) All-Star team announced today while two other Greyhounds copped second team berths and three others were given honorable mention.



Named to first team positions on the mythical squad were quarterback Dan Barton, tackle Jim (Bobo) Aldrich and end Dennis O'Toole, all seniors. Aldrich and O'Toole were unanimous choices, Barton missing by one vote.

Second team posts were won by guard Bob Pauline and halfback Ken Bronson.

Halfback Joe Karbowsky, fullback Carl Rattay and tackle Ed Allen received honorable mention notice.

Cougars Lead Balloting

Charleroi led the balloting for first team positions with four choices, end Ollie Payne, guard Fred Yuss, halfback Joe Uhlman, all unanimous choices, and quarterback Ron Cosner.

Two Donora gridders were first team selections, guard Neil Clark and halfback Angie Dabiero.

Selected on the second team along with Pauline and Bronson were Bob Breen, of Brownsville and Tim Lee of Charleroi at ends; Mike Kondratic, of Charleroi, and Nick Kuzemka, of Donora, at tackles; Dave Saunders of Monongahela teaming at the other guard opposite Pauline, Art Moyard of Charleroi at center, on the line, and Tom Urbanik, of Donora, Milton Diaz of Monongahela and Art Bentley of Brownsville at the backfield posts with Bronson. Monessen's Karbowsky missed a second team backfield berth by one vote.

James (Rab) Currie, Charleroi mentor, was a unanimous choice for "coach-of-the-year."

Kickoff Set for 7 o'clock

Monessen and Brownsville High School climax the longest Big Five Conference grid season since the days of Thanksgiving clashes when they meet at the Memorial Stadium here tonight. The kickoff is set for 7 o'clock, an hour earlier than usual.

Both schools agreed to the early starting time to avoid possible "nasty" weather later at night.

Neither team is enjoying what could be called a successful season as the Brownies have failed to win a Big Five tilt and the locals have copped only one Conference win, a 20-7 defeat of Monongahela.

On the other hand both teams have shown strength at times, like the Uniontown game for Brownsville and the Charleroi and Donora tilts for the locals. Brownsville's main forte in it's "good" games has been defensive play while Monessen has shown exceptional offensive ability.

MHS Offense — Minded

Best examples of the Greyhound's tremendous offensive potential were the 38-37 loss to Windber and the 46-41 defeat by Hempfield last week.

An interesting sidelight to tonight's game will be Monessen's Kenny Bronson, speedy left halfback, trying to win the Mon Valley scoring crown. He trails Joe Uhlman of Charleroi by only one point, 79-78 for the '57 title. Bronson scored five touchdowns against Hempfield Saturday.

Coach Alex Barantovich, of Brownsville, a former Monongahela and Penn State star, who is in his second year at the Brownsville helm, depends on quarterback George Baker and halfback Art Bentley for offensive punch.

Defensively, All-Big Five tackle Myron Myrga gets help from Joe Cesarone, 185-pounds, at the other tackle post.

Going into tonight's clash Brownsville shows a 2-3 record winning the first but losing the next five games in succession.

Munhall fell victim to the Brownies in the opener, 14-13 and Redstone was a 7-6 victim. Following a two week's lapse because of the flu the Brownies then dropped a 12-7 game to Donora, 12-0 tilt to Uniontown, a 12-6 decision to Connellsville, a 28-7 contest to Monongahela in an upset and a 28-0 setback by Charleroi last Friday.

Monessen has defeated Monongahela and Redstone, losing to Hempfield, Uniontown, Duquesne, Charleroi, Windber and Donora.

Usual Starters

Coach Armand Niccolai of the Greyhounds will go with his usual starters tonight with the exception of George Guibourdanche, regular end who will give way to Bob Burns, Guibourdanche favoring an injury.

Dennis O'Toole will be at the other end, Ed Allen and Bob Aldrich at tackles, Bob Pauline and Terry Throop at guards, Lou Gigliotti at center with Dan Barton at quarterback, Joe Karbowsky and Ken Bronson at halves and Carl Rattay at fullback.

United Press Names 1957 All-Americans

By LEO H. PETERSEN

NEW YORK (UP)—The United Press today presents its 1957 All-American football team, chosen by 275 football writers and broadcasters from all sections of the country.

They selected as the 11 finest college players in the land:

Ends—Jimmy Phillips, Auburn, and Jim Gibbons, Iowa.

Tcakles — Alex Karras, Iowa, and Lou Michaels, Kentucky.

Guards — Bill Krisher, Oklahoma, and Al Ecuyer, Notre Dame.

Center — Don Stephenson, Georgia Tech.

Backs—John Crow, Texas A&M; Walt Kowalczyk, Michigan State; Clendon Thomas, Oklahoma, and Bob Anderson, Army.

Michaels is the only repeater from the 1956 United Press All-America team. He was the only junior on that mythical eleven, all the rest being seniors.

This year's all-star team is made up of nine seniors, a junior and a sophomore. Ecuyer is the junior while Anderson, Army's brilliant back, became the first sophomore to make a United Press All-America team since J.C. Caroline of Illinois in 1953.

Karras Heads Vote

A lineman, Karras, the 233-pound Iowa tackle, led the vote getting with a total of 2.335 points. He was named on 225 of the 275 ballots, receiving 197 first team votes and 28 second team votes. Eleven points are awarded for a first team vote, six points for a second team vote.

Next to Karras came Crow, the spearhead of Texas A & M's attack, with 2,269 points.

The closest race was for the center position, with Stephenson beating out Dan Currie of Michigan State by 42 points. Another tight contest was for the fourth backfield spot between Anderson and Don Clark of Ohio State's Big Ten champions.

Clark, who had to sit out Ohio State's last two games because of injuries, led the balloting for the fourth backfield spot until the final day when Anderson finally forged in front. In the final count, Anderson beat out Clark by 92 points.

Geographically, the Midwest, usually a powerhouse of the nation's football, dominated the 1957 team with four positions, followed by the south with three, the Midlands with two and the East and Southwest with one each. The best the Far West could do was a second team berth for end Dick Wallen of UCLA.

The line is a heavy one, averaging 211 pounds to a man. Michaels is the heaviest at 235, with Ecuyer the lightest at 195. The backfield averages just over 200 pounds per man with Crow the heaviest at 210 and Thomas the lightweight at 188.

All of the teams ranked as the top seven in the country by the United Press Board of Coaches placed men on the All-Star team except Ohio State.

The Buckeyes, currently rated the No. 1 team in the nation, won two second team berths, however—Clark and guard Aurelius Thomas.

Kerr Score Tops St. John's Loop

Top honors in the St. Johns League last night went to A.M. Kerr with a 152-359 card trailed by Kay Joseph, M. Kostichak and O. Yetsconish.

Dackos and Kerrs are now tied for the top spot in the standings as the Kerr's topped the former first-placers last night and Josephs bested Costello.

Standings — Dacko 19-14, Kerr 19-14, Joseph 15-18, and Costella 13-20.

Celtic Five May Set Mark Tonight Against New York

By UNITED PRESS

The World Champion Boston Celtics face the New York Knickerbockers tonight in the first of four games that may enable them to set one National Basketball Association record and equal another.

The Celtics, riding the crest of a 13-game winning streak, need victories over New York tonight and Thursday to equal the league mark of 15 straight at the start of a season held by the 1948 Washington club. If successful, they'll then have a shot at the all-time mark of 17 straight wins during any portion of a season held by the 1946 Washington team.

The Celtics appear to have little to fear from the Knickerbockers who Tuesday night dropped their ninth decision in 14 games when they bowed to the St. Louis Hawks, 120-110. The Detroit Pistons beat the Minneapolis Lakers, 109-91, in the other half of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

In addition to the New York-Boston clash tonight's schedule has Philadelphia at Syracuse, Minneapolis vs. Cincinnati (at Detroit) and St. Louis at Detroit. The Thanksgiving Day program has Boston vs. New York (at Philadelphia), Cincinnati at St. Louis, and Syracuse at Philadelphia.

Art Davis to Rejoin Steelers for 1958

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers, out of the running for division honors, can anticipate some backfield aid in 1958.

Halfback Art Davis, out of action this season while recuperating from a knee operation, will be ready for play next year.

Dr. Philip A. Faix, Steelers physician, said the 195-pound former Mississippi State star passed a thorough physical examination.

"Both Dr. Faix and my own doctor in Mississippi left it up to me," Davis said. "So I guess I'll be back."

Davis underwent a knee operation early this year to remove a cartilage.

Pittsburgh lost its claim to contention in the National Football League Eastern Division race by losing to the Green Bay Packers last Sunday, 27-10.

The Baltimore Colts, leading Detroit and San Francisco by a game in the Western Division, are five-point choices against the visiting Rams. George Preas, an offensive tackle, is out of the Baltimore lineup. Will Sherman, Ram defensive back, also is sidelined.

Detroit is favored by 7½ points for its annual Thanksgiving Day game with the Packers. The Briggs Stadium game will be televised nationally by CBS at noon, e.s.t.

This week's selections: Browns (7-1-1) over Cardinals (2-6), Lions (5-4) over Packers (3-6), Forty-Niners (5-4) over Giants (7-2), Rams (4-5) over Colts (6-3), Bears (4-5) over Redskins (2-6-1), Eagles (3-6) over Steelers (4-4).

Princeton Mentor Named as UP's 'Coach of Week'

PRINCETON, N.J. (UP)—He is a politician who predicts hard times ahead — for his football team, that is.

He started the year as assistant coach, began the football season as acting head coach and ended it as long-term head coach of the Ivy League champions.

He insists his boys are "students first and football players second," and in his case no one will disagree.

Scored Upset

He's Dick Colman of Princeton, the United Press coach of the week after his Tigers whipped Dartmouth, 34-14, in the snow Saturday for the title in a conference where football is a weekend diversion rather than a way of life.

Colman is a big, friendly fellow, so popular with the hometown folks here that they elected him to the borough council three weeks ago. His athletic career is tied closely with the late Charlie Caldwell, his coach at Williams College and later his boss at Princeton.

Joined Staff in '45

After coaching at Williams, Colman joined the Princeton staff in 1945 as assistant to Caldwell. When Charlie took a medical leave at the start of the 1957 season, Colman was named acting head coach. Caldwell died Nov. 1 and Colman was signed formally as head coach on Nov. 11, the day he turned 43.

Colman felt Princeton, an Ivy League toughie for the past decade, will have its hands full next year.

"We lose 16 seniors," he said, "and you just don't replace some of those good ones that easily. We have a rebuilding job."

Archers' 1957 Deer Season Sets Records

Bow and arrow hunters purchased 55,172 licenses to hunt deer in Pennsylvania during their separate, either-sex white-tail season of 1957. This number more than doubles the 26,210 licenses sold to archers for the special bucks-only season last year.

The number of deer killed by the bowmen this year also establishes a Commonwealth record. The break down by sex has not been made, but the total bag reported to November 20 numbered 1,275. (Of this number Pennsylvanians accounted for 1208 deer; non-residents for 67.) In the archers' 1956 antlered deer season bow and arrow hunters reported they took 224 legal bucks.

In keeping with the Game Commission's determination to establish the exact deer kill, as near as may be, Game Protectors will investigate unreported kills as time permits. The same procedure will be followed after the 1957 bear, antlered deer and antlerless deer seasons.

How Old is Your Deer?

For several years biologists of the Game Commission's Research Division have checked the age of deer bagged by hunters, and have measured the antler diameter of bucks.

Information so gathered is important both to hunters and those engaged in managing the deer herd. Many sportsmen have furthered the study by submitting one-half of the lower jaw bone of their deer to Commission biologist Stanley Forbes, 432 Lookout Avenue, Ridgway, Pa.

In the coming deer seasons successful hunters are again urged to send Forbes one-half of the lower jaw of their deer. Persons who cooperate will be advised as to the age of the animal taken.

During the 1957 antlerless deer season Game Protectors, also, will examine deer taken by successful hunters. The officers will report on the sex of each animal and note whether it is a fawn or adult.

Hunters whose deer are checked in any way are reminded, however, that according to law they must report their kill to the Harrisburg office of the Game Commission within five days after the season in which the animal was killed.

May Open Lands—

This fall, antlered and antlerless deer hunting will be permissible on certain propagation areas, rabbit farms and dog training areas previously closed to all hunting. The Game Commission authorized the temporary opening of these special acreages to reduce the number of deer in the locality. In many sections these large animals have seriously interfered with the management program for small game species.

The customary "no hunting" regulation on these special areas located on private land shall be relaxed this fall in the case of deer hunting only, and then only with the consent of the landowner. Dog training and propagation areas and rabbit farms opened to deer hunting in the 1957 seasons will be adequately identified so that hunters will be made aware of the fact. Otherwise such areas will remain entirely closed to hunting.

BELLMAR STUDENTS USE SLIDE RULE — Amelia Ferrari, Pat Podsadowski and Ronald Devers learn how to use a logarithmic slide rule while studying mathematics at Bellmar. The three students have just finished working several square route problems with the slide ruler. To continue in mathematics, Bellmar pupils must maintain better than average grades.

Mathematics Courses Popular At High Schools in District

(This is the second in a series of three articles on the subject of science and mathematics education in district high schools. Today's article discusses mathematics courses offered at Monessen, Bellmar and Rostraver.)

By ALLEN KLINE

When Russia beat the United States into outer space, the nation's educators, under pressure from public opinion, were prompted to reevaluate the American school system.

A good many of them concluded that the "weak spot" existed in education at the high school level.

This thinking was summarized recently by Herbert Hoover, former president and a learned engineer.

"In my view there is a fundamental weakness from the too prevalent high school system of allowing a 13 or 14-year-old kid to choose most of his studies," said Hoover. "Academic freedom seems now to begin at 14. A youngster's first reaction in school is to seek soft classes, not the hard work of science and mathematics."

Is that really the case at the three district high schools?

"Certainly not," contends E. F. Carter, superintendent of Rostraver schools.

"We have 66 per cent of our ninth grade students in our Algebra I course this year," said Carter. "All of these students freely elected the study, indicating that they weren't looking for soft courses."

Many Advance

Carter added that many other students also asked to study algebra but were dissuaded by school officials because their elementary grades in mathematics indicated they were not capable of the work.

At Bellmar, 65 per cent of the ninth graders are taking algebra. At Monessen, the figure is 50 per cent.

How many students continue to advanced algebra?

Just about all of them, according to principals at the three schools. Less than 15 per cent quit algebra after the first year.

Almost half of the graduates also study plane geometry, it was noted. At Bellmar, 45 per cent take the course; at Monessen, 40 per cent; at Rostraver 38 per cent.

The two toughest mathematics courses offered in high school are solid geometry and trigonometry. They are reserved generally for seniors who have completed their algebra study.

At Bellmar, students are not permitted to take solid geometry or trigonometry unless they have already completed two and one half units of senior high mathematics. Practically all of those who qualify take the course, reports principal Raymond Barker. The figure at Bellmar amounts to 10 per cent of the senior class.

Math Students

The Rostraver average in the two difficult courses is 17 per cent. At Monessen it is 11 per cent.

Principals at all three schools insisted their mathematics faculties are "exceptionally capable."

Are fewer students studying mathematics today than a half century ago?

According to national figures, the answer is yes. For example, in 1900, 56.3 per cent of the pupils studied algebra. Now less than half that number complete the course.

District principals shied away from commenting on those statistics. They pointed out that no data was available to provide a similar comparison for their respective schools.

"In recent years, however, more and more students have enrolled in our mathematics courses," pointed out Carter.

Other district school officials reported a similar trend.

(Friday, the final article in this series will look into the science picture at the three district schools.)

Few Students in the Nation Take Any Advanced Mathematics Courses

(Second of a Series)

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Most American high school students take one year of mathematics.

This required course is usually taught in the 9th grade. It may be "general math," which is a review of grade school arithmetic with a little algebra and geometry thrown in, or it may be first-year algebra.

Many high schools require a second year of math for students preparing for college. This may be plane geometry in the 10th grade, which about 40 per cent of our students take; or intermediate algebra in the 11th grade, which 32 per cent take.

Few Continue Mathematics

One American student out of seven goes on to study advanced mathematics—solid geometry and trigonometry—in the 12th grade.

Russian students are introduced to algebra and geometry in the sixth grade. They get one course in each every year until they graduate from high school at the completion of the 10th grade. During their last two years, they also study trigonometry for two classroom hours a week.

American high schools generally require one year of "general science" for graduation. This usually is taught in the 9th grade and includes a smattering of all the natural sciences from astronomy to zoology.

Most of our high schools offer—and some require—one or more additional courses in laboratory science. The best schools offer biology in the 10th grade, chemistry in the 11th, physics in the 12th.

A survey by the U. S. Office of Education last year showed that 75 per cent of America's tenth-graders were taking biology; 35 per cent of the 11th graders were studying chemistry; and 24 per cent of the seniors were enrolled in physics.

Russian students begin their science studies in the fourth grade with two hours of biology instruction a week. They continue to study biology through grade 9, a total of five years.

Physics is added in the 6th grade and is studied for five years. The Soviet student takes four years of chemistry, starting in the 7th grade, and one year of astronomy, in the 10th grade.

Some U. S. high schools offer four years of foreign language instruction and require at least two years for a student taking a college - preparatory course. But the majority do not require any foreign language study, and many do not even offer it.

Russian students get five years of foreign language instruction. About 40 per cent study English.

Soviet children get separate courses in history and geography each year from the fourth grade on.

A Russian student has no choice whatever in the subjects he studies. The government lays down one hard-and-fast curriculum for all schools and all students. It is designed to serve the needs of the state—the production of large numbers of engineers and scientists, for example.

Woman Awarded $75,000 Settlement

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Mrs. Audrey Poole, 31, Oak Hill, W. Va., was awarded a $75,000 out-of-court settlement today in a damage suit brought for the death of her husband in an industrial accident at Greenville, Pa.

The husband, Claude, 31, was killed when he came in contact with an unprotected electric power line while painting in a plant of the Chicago Bridge & Iron Co., the defendant in the action.

Steel Production To Hit Low Point

NEW YORK (UP)—The American Iron & Steel Institute predicts that steel production this week will skid to its lowest point in a non-strike period in nearly three years.

The Institute estimated production this week at 73.6 per cent of capacity, or 1,884,000 tons. That marks the lowest tonnage since the 1,850,000 tons in the week starting Dec. 27, 1954, except for strike periods last year and in 1955.

Steel officials expect output to decline still further before the end of the year. The decline reflects the low rate of incoming orders, the Institute said.

Housewife Makes Use of Knife

A modern housewife makes use of knives on the average of 32 times a day, American Iron and Steel Institute said today, on the basis of a cutlery expert's estimate. Knives are such a familiar use of steel that their design and efficiency are often taken for granted, the Institute said.

In the design of a carving knife for example, it is known that wide blades are good for carving hot meat roasts and that narrow blades are better for cold meats. That is because hot slices fall away from the blade whereas cold meat slices —. containing hardened fat — tend to stick to the blade. Therefore, cold meat has less surface to stick to when a narrow blade is used.

The shape and type of grind for a knife, particularly one designed for meat carving, is largely a matter of personal taste. However, many professionals are reported to like tapered blades, which are graduated in thickness from back to edge and also from base of tang to point. Another generally recognized indication of a fine carving knife is the balance. The weight of the knife should be in the hand of the user. Other than that, the comfort of the carver is the only qualification.

The basic set of six knives and tools in a well appointed kitchen includes a paring knife, a longer utility knife, a narrow slicer, a cook's knife for dicing and carving, a long handled pot-fork and a sharpening steel. There are also many specialty knives to make the housewife's work easier.

UN Keeps Hands Off In Algeria

UNITED NATIONS (UP)— The United Nations will keep hands off the Algerian situation and give France another year to work out its troubles with the strife-torn North African territory, U.N. observers predicted today.

The General Assembly's Main Political Committee was opening its perennial debate on the explosive question this afternoon with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau the first speaker.

Expects Support

The French counted heavily on support from Britain and the United States for its demand for a free hand to solve the Algerian problem and it appeared they would get it.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said at the end of 13 hours of talks with French Premier Felix Gaillard Tuesday that "responsibility for a solution of the Algerian question lies with France."

Pineau has conducted a number of talks in Washington with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other officials drumming up similar support.

The atmosphere here lacked the tension surrounding Algerian debates of past years.

Moderation Stressed

Both the Arab bloc, which has demanded independence for Algeria, and the French appeared disposed to accept a moderately-worded resolution.

But in Algeria, the French ordered extra security measures after seizing rebel documents indicating the nationalists planned a "seven day offensive" against farms, French soldiers and civilians to coincide with the debate.

The French National Assembly was continuing its debate today on a law designed to give limited home rule to Algeria. Gaillard was expected to ask tonight for a vote of confidence on it.

Discharge Speed-up Ordered in Services

WASHINGTON (UP) — The armed services announced today they will speed up the discharge of enlisted men whose military service is due to end during the Christmas and New Year holidays.

The Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines said they plan the early release of as many of these men as possible, so that they may spend the holidays with their families.

Foreign Students Get Turkey

Twenty foreign students from the Pennsylvania State University will spend the Thanksgiving holidays in Pine Grove as guests of the residents of that Schuylkill county community.

It marks the third year that the Rotary Club and Women's Club of Pine Grove have arranged to bring Penn State students from other countries to their town for the vacation period. They will leave here today and return on Sunday.

Mrs. Rebecca Doerner, secretary of International Student Affairs at Penn State, also reported today that the Rotary Club of nearby Bellefonte will entertain foreign students on Thanksgiving Day and many more of them will be guests of faculty members and other State College families for the holiday dinner.

Penn State this year has an enrollment of more than 275 foreign students, representing nearly 50 countries.

More than 100 of them are enrolled as graduate students, mostly in the technical fields, while others are participating in special programs, such as the Atoms-for-Peace nuclear engineering program in which 24 are currently rolled.

Twenty-five of the students are from India while Canada is represented by 21, Japan by 20, England by 19, and Taiwan by 14.

Fumes Fatal to Masontown Man

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP)—Deputy Coroner George Yoney today attributed the death of John Mokij, 62, Masontown, whose body was found slumped over the wheel of his automobile, to accidental carbon monoxide poisoning.

Yoney said friends of the victim said he often slept in his car. His body was found Sunday.

Creditors Are Hoping For Rising Market

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Some 80 persons trying to recover money invested for them by a Mt. Lebanon stock investor who owes them about $900,000 hoped today "the market goes up."

The creditors attended an insolvency hearing here Monday before Judge William Cercone and voted to hold on to the stock purchased for them by Ralph B. Hatz, Mt. Lebanon. They were advised by attorneys to "gamble in the hope the market goes up."

Hatz agreed that holding onto the stock was a sound plan.

"I think we're in an upswing in the market," Hatz said. "There should be a nice increase."

Hatz paid high interest—as much as 60 per cent annually—to lenders. When the stock market tumbled late last summer creditors sought to get their money back and found Hatz didn't have enough to pay them.

Attorney Samuel M. Rosenzweig, the receiver, said Hatz' present assets total about $60,000 to $100,000 while his liabilities were $1,030,000. He said effort would be made to recover money from persons to whom Hatz paid more than 6 per cent interest, the legal amount allowed.

The receiver said recovery of excess interest should reduce claims against Hatz "appreciably."

An audit showed that in addition to money owed to individuals Hatz owes $23,532 to banks and loan companies. He has turned over to receivers two $10,000 life insurance policies and his home, appraised at $13,500.

Nathan Leventon, attorney for the receiver, said the exact amount of Hatz' assets cannot be determined because stocks he purchased on margin have fluctuated as much as $40,000.

Another hearing was scheduled before Judge Cercone for Jan. 6.

Turnpike Police Urge Safety Over Holiday

State police assigned to Pennsylvania Turnpike duty will provide maximum patrol coverage over the Thanksgiving holiday period and will be especially alert for overtired motorists, drinking drivers and speeders, according to a statement issued today by Capt. Singleton Sheaffer who commands the Turnpike division.

The men empowered to provide law enforcement for the 470 miles of superhighway remind potential patrons that law enforcement patrols alone cannot insure the inherent safety factors built into the famous facility, but motorists should double check their vehicles for mechanical defects and for poor tires, in addition to checking themselves for driver competence.

As a final, personal appeal, the police take occasion to reaffirm the messages contained in the safety slogans recently accepted by the Turnpike Commission, "Our Business is Your Safety", so "Be Sane—Don't Maim", since "This Road is Safe—Are You?"

Sir Winston Churchill To Celebrate Birthday, His 83rd, on Saturday

By JOSEPH GRIGG

LONDON (UP) — Sir Winston Churchill celebrates his 83rd birthday Saturday — a very old man working against the inexorable march of time.

The last survivor of the great Allied leaders of World War II, Churchill is hurrying to complete his monumental "History of the English Speaking Peoples," begun in 1930.

The third volume was published this year. A fourth and—as far as is known — final volume is scheduled for publication in 1958.

Time Uncertain Factor

But time is the great uncertain factor.

Friends say Churchill's towering mental powers and mastery of the English language remain as supreme as ever.

But physically he has declined noticeably in recent months.

His once rotund figure is sunken and bent, his step is that of a very tired man and he walks painfully with the aid of a stick or supported on Lady Churchill's arm.

At the urging of his wife and doctors he is doing everything to husband the remnants of his strength.

Much of this year Churchill has spent on the French Riviera to escape the raw dampness of England which has plagued him with chills and bronchial trouble. He spent two months at Roquebrune last January and another three weeks there in May. In September he spent several more weeks at the Cap D'Ail home of his old friend Lord Beaverbrook. He expects to leave for the French Riviera again soon.

During h' visits there he divides his time between painting and working on the "History of th English Speaking Peoples."

His visits to London are rare. When in England he generally stays at Chartwell, his beautiful country home about 30 miles southeast of London.

The old warrior, who retired from the premiership under the weight of his years on April 5, 1955, still holds his parliamentary seat for Woodford. It is a "safe," solidly Conservative constituency, and he has announced he will retain it for the rest of his days.

But his visits to the House of Commons are rare and he no longer speaks in debates. Growing deafness and the tax on his strength rule that out.

In fact, Churchill's public appearances have become rarer and rarer of late.

Fast Camera Shutter Planned by Army

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army has announced development of a rapid new camera shutter that takes photographs in five billionths of a second.

The shutter was designed for scientific research studies of high-speed shock wave, explosions and certain types of nuclear reactions.

Its secret, the Army said, is a hermetically-sealed chemical-type shutter which is triggered electronically. The shutter was developed by the Samuel Feltman Ammunition Laboratories at Dover, N. J.

Inofrmation regarding the work of the Chapter may be had by contacting the Westmoreland County Chapter of the Penna. Assn. for Retarded Children, PO Box 22, Greensburg.

A social hour will follow the meeting.

State to Get Bids Dec. 20 On Road Jobs

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Highways Department will receive bids Dec. 20 on these road construction projects in western Pennsylvania:

Free Electric For Christmas

West Penn Power Co. will provide free electricity for community Christmas lighting again this year, district manager A. R. Newell announced today.

"We are happy to furnish this electricity for community lighting from dusk to midnight during the month of December," he said.

"Whether the townspeople plan just a community tree, or decorative main street lighting, they can count on burning lights all evening," Newell added.

Electric Towers Use Much Steel In Construction

Those sturdy steel transmission towers which carry electric power lines over hills and valleys are not as simple to build as the layman might assume, according to American Iron and Steel Institute today.

A tower weighing about seven tons may consist of about 475 individual pieces of steel, says one expert. Some of the towers weigh less than that and some are upwards of 25 tons.

A single, long transmission line may require several different types of towers. For straight runs or very slight angles in the line, a light tower is used, while for a 90 degree bend in the line, a heavy tower is required. Between these two, intermediate types of towers are used for 5, 15 and 45 degree bends.

A great deal of planning goes into the construction of a tower. Built to stand for many years in all kinds of weather, they are designed to withstand wind, ice and snow loadings. Calculation must also be made for the weight of conductors, insulator strings and the tension at which the conductors will be strung.

'Accelerant' Is Used in Death Fire, Police Say

SOMERSET, Pa. (UP)—A state policeman said Tuesday that an "accelerant" had been used in the fire which claimed the life of Mrs. Mary Boden, Rockwood, last Nov. 17.

Sgt. Arthur Wood, assistant fire marshall for state police, presented his testimony at a habeas corpus hearing for Melvin Boden, husband of the victim, and his brother Harry C. Boden.

The brothers are charged with murder and arson in the woman's death. They are being held in Somerset County jail without bail.

Wood declined to name the accelerant, but said he could smell it in the room where Mrs. Boden's body was found. He said he found evidence that the blaze had an incendiary origin.

Somerset county Coroner Dr. Alexander Solosko, who performed an autopsy on Mrs. Boden's body, has ruled she died of third degree burns and shock, and that she suffered a blow on the forehead, a cut on her face and a black eye.

He said the injuries could have been sustained in a fall.

Somerset County Judge Thomas F. Lansberry withheld decision on the habeas corpus petition, stating he would rule within a reasonable time.

Beaver County Sells Toll Bridge Bonds

BEAVER, Pa. (UP)—The Beaver County Municipal Authority has sold $2,875,000 worth of bonds to be spent for construction of a toll bridge across the Ohio River between East Rochester and Monaca.

The bonds went to Singer, Deane and Scribner for an average interest rate of 5⅛ per cent. The bridge is expected to be completed by 1960.

Mitchell Gives Ike's 'Chins Up' Address

NEW YORK (UP)—Labor Secretary James P Mitchell delivered Tuesday night part of the "chins up" speech President Eisenhower had planned to make from Cleveland, Ohio, before a nationwide TV audience

Mitchell called on Americans to drop partisanship and throw their full support behind expanded military and economic aid for the free world The labor secretary spoke before a convention banquet of the Manufacturing Chemists Association

In order to use parts of the President s speech, which also had been planned for Tuesday night Mitchell threw away parts of his own talk He followed his own text to discuss domestic labor problems and then said he would give the administration s view on the question of military and economic aid, the subject the President had planned to discuss in Cleveland

Mitchell outlined three Eisenhower recommendations.

—He urged Americans to give their fullest support to mutual security and economic aid

—He announced the President would recommend to Congress in January an extension of the trade agreement act to broaden the program and to provide for longer duration than the present three years to achieve essential security and stability abroad

—He said the administration needs nationwide support for authority within the organization for trade cooperation

Still speaking for the President, Mitchell said the nation s economic aid spending is about one-third of the military aid spending but that both are equally important to the nation s defense

Science Educator Uses Two Pretty Girls to Make His Atomic Point

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — An atom, any atom, has its own individual chemical properties, whatever they are. And an atom also has mass. This leads to the meaning of isotope. To understand better, take not one pretty girl but two pretty girls.

You're listening to a science educator, Dr. H. E. Duckworth, professor of physics at McMaster University, Hamilton, Ont., explaining the atom and the isotope s mewhat informally.

His informal way has much general interest right now because Russia's two Sputnik's have convinced a lot of people that our science educators must interest a lot more young men in learning about atoms and isotopes. Russia is turning out many more scientists than we are.

Now, to return to Prof. Duckworth and his informal lecture:

"I am interested in hiring a receptionist," he continued. "You know the sort of girl I mean—good-looking, a tooth-paste smile, able to dismiss unwanted visitors without their taking offense and, at the same time, capable of arousing in the breasts of prospective customers a spirit of benign good will.

"The girl is valuable because of the manner in which she interacts with other people or, we might say, because of her chemical properties, since the chemical properties of an atom determine how it interacts with other atoms. I am looking, therefore, for a girl who is chemically active—in a certain demure way.

"In advertising the position I naturally request that each applicant send a recent photograph, say, from the neck up. Let us further suppose that two applicants appear to possess identical qualifications. Both their photographs are persuasive and, on other counts, they seem well matched.

"However, further investigation reveals that whereas one of the applicants weighs 120 pounds the other weighs 240 pounds. Those two girls are isotopes of a receptionist—their chemical properties are alike but their weights or masses are different. This mass difference may not be important in connection with their chemical meeting of the public but it will be important, physically, if the chair the receptionist is to occupy will only support 180 pounds."

As further informal reassurance to people who are atom-shy, Prof. Duckworth pointed out there are only about 100 different kinds of atoms, and the names of some of them are "household words," such as hydrogen, carbon, nitrogen, iron, copper, silver, gold and uranium—although some, to be sure, have such names as dysprosium, ytterbium, and praeseodymium.

All these are elements and in chemical properties all the atoms of any one element are practically identical. But they may differ as to mass or weight. Thus, you have common hydrogen and "heavy hydrogen." The latter's atoms have twice the weight of the former but both are hydrogen atoms. So both are hydrogen isotopes.

Duckworth gave his informal lecture at a meeting of the American Association of Physics Teachers. It was thought a good laugh at the time, but now it is being circulated by the American Institute of Physics. Sputniks have pointed up the need to interest more young people in physics.

Federal Ethics Challenged in Anti-trust Suit

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The ethics of the Federal government were challenged Tuesday in its anti-trust suit brought against the Radio Corp. of America and its subsidiary, National Broadcasting Co.

Bernard G. Segal, attorney for the companies, said the government is not beyond the requirements of fair play in its dealing with private individuals. He told Chief U. S. District Court Judge William H. Kirkpatrick that the Justice Department is asking the court to set aside what another arm of the government, the Federal Communications Commission, has approved.

The government filed the suit last December, charging RCA and NBC unlawfully combined and conspired to obtain five of the nation's top television stations.

Judge Kirkpatrick reserved decision.

Seneca Indians Fight To Hold on to Empire

WASHINGTON (UP)—Ghosts of long-dead red men and white men stirred in the modern courtroom.

The Seneca Indians were fighting for some shreds of their primeval empire.

Once the Seneca ruled vast forests stretching across Western New York and Pennsylvania and far into Ohio. Settlement by settlement, white men occupied the land.

In 1784 the Seneca and other Iroquois chiefs met at Ft Stanwix with representatives of the new American government.

The Indians signed a treaty agreeing to keep the peace and stay within newly-drawn borders.

Six years later the Senecas were worried the federal government set up under the new constitution would not abide by the treaty.

Assures The Senecas

President Washington wrote Chief Cornplanter of the Senecas that "you know the lands secured to you by the Treaty of Ft. Stanwix are yours and that only your own acts can convey them away. The United States will be true and faithful to their engagement."

Four years later the United States signed a new treaty with Chief Cornplanter again guaranteeing the Senecas their lands which covered much of Western New York. U.S. Agent Thomas Pickering told the Senecas the land would be theirs "as long as the sun would rise, the grass was green, the river would flow and the moon would rise."

Every year the white men's government sends each Seneca Indian two yards of cloth as a boon and as a symbol of the treaty. But the great Seneca nation has continued to shrink. The chiefs have sold off the land until only two small reservations remain.

Allegheny — the larger one — is 30,000 acres. Now the United States wants to take much of it as the site of a reservoir for a new big dam near Kinzua, Pa.

Case In Court

Federal District Judge John J. Sirica sat listening impassively Monday to the story of the Senecas and his country.

The government lawyer said the government was not breaking the old treaty by taking the land. Edward E. O'Neill, the Indians' lawyer, said the government could not take the land without breaking the treaty.

"If they want it, we can't stop them," he said. "But they must pass a special act abrogating the treaty. It's an Indian land grab."

The judge said he would study the case. He asked O'Neill if he would go to the Court of Claims if he lost the case in Federal District Court.

"I'll appeal," O'Neill said.

"It isn't money. If they take the land, that's all the Senecas have."

U. S. Steel in Big Shipbuilding Program Plans

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—Adm. Charles R. Khoury, president of the Pittsburgh Steamship division of U.S. Steel Corp. outlined plans Tuesday for a 100-million dollar ship construction program.

Khoury said plans for construction of 12 new fresh or salt water ore carriers had moved from "the dream stage to the design stage."

"We are hoping to have something approved by 1958," the admiral said, "and the first new boat in operation by 1960."

Each of the new vessels would be capable of carrying 25,000 tons of iron ore—more than any lake ships now operating. The ships would be powered by 8500-horsepower engines, would be 730 feet overall with 75-foot beam, and designed to travel at more than 17 miles per hour.

Khoury said the vessels would cost about eight million dollars each, and would permit retirement of 29 older ore carriers of the Pittsburgh fleet which are slower and smaller and more costly to operate.

The fleet, with headquarters in Cleveland, is hauling approximately 21,700,000 tons of or this season, compared with 17,300,000 in 1956. Fourty-four of the 56 Pittsburgh ships have already been berthed for the winter.

The last to be laid up for the winter will be the Anderson, due to dock Dec. 2 at Milwaukee.

Khoury said that although the proposed ships will be fitted for seaway operation, his concern does not anticipate any changes in its operation "for four years."

Corporation Expense Accounts Big Business

By FRED DA.!IG

NEW YORK (UP) — Many a corporation has sought relief from the heat of taxation by seeking the shade of an expense account oasis.

It remains for our tax collectors to police the oasis and adjust the shade.

In examining expense accounts, the government tries to separate personal and business expenses. It's not easy, especially in the category of "travel and entertainment," otherwise known as "T and E." Some examples:

—An aircraft company in California owns a plane and a yacht. Company officers use the plane for weekend hunting trips. The yacht is used for company-sponsored fishing trips.

—A company assigns a deserving executive to a branch office conveniently located at a resort such as Miami Beach. He spends the winter there. Turns out the branch office is a myth. The vacation isn't.

—A company pays for an executive's country club membership, gives him a home to live in, or pays his athletic club dues.

Diner's Card Abuses

Many companies supply their executives with membership cards in the Diner's Club, a post-war master credit plan now serving more than 500,000 members. Tax agents recently discovered four Diner's Club members who met for lunch every day and rotated the check, charging it off to business. This abuse of a legitimate service is what the tax collectors try to stop.

No figures are available on just how much money is deducted each year for "T and E." One study of a medium-size corporation revealed that about one-fourth of 1 per cent of its expenses fell under this category.

According to the Tax Foundation, 58,600,000 individual tax returns were filed in 1956, along with 896,000 corporate tax returns, for a total of 59,400,000. Of this total, 4,300,000 returns were examined by the government and 2,400,000 taxpayers were called in to talk things over.

The government picked up an additional $1,100,000,000 from these audits.

You get some idea of how much money is tied up in "T and E" in a tax agent estimate that about one-half of all people called in to prove deductions have suspicious-looking "T and E" totals.

"There must be a business purpose for the expenses you deduct," said this official. "At the same time," he added, "corporations have a wide range of judgment as to what expenses are calculated to advance the business. The government has no right to tell them how to spend their money.

"I doubt if we'll ever reach a satisfactory solution to the problem," he concluded.

Must Go by Air

WASHINGTON (UP) — Christmas packages for servicemen overseas must now be sent airmail in order to insure delivery by Dec. 25, the Defense Department says. The heavy Yuletide mail load requires that air parcels be sent not later than Dec. 10 for Christmas delivery. The deadline for mailing overseas packages expired Nov. 20.

Parchment diplomas awarded at commencements cost United States high schools and colleges more than one million dollars annually.

Ike Proclaims Thanksgiving Day

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has issued this proclamation for Thanksgiving Day:

"As a nation we have prospered. We are making progress in our efforts to translate our national ideals into living realities; and we are at peace with the world, working toward that day when the benefits of freedom and justice shall be secured for all mankind.

"For such blessings let us be devoutly thankful, and at the same time let us be sensitive and responsive to the obligations which such great mercies entail."

His proclamation was issued at the White House on Nov. 8.

Ike's Illness Brings Comment in World

By UNITED PRESS

Comment by national and world leaders on President Eisenhower's illness:

Former President Truman—"I know the American people feel as I do in wishing for him as President and for him as a person the speediest return to good health. I hope and pray for his quick recovery. I am shocked and disturbed by the news of his illness."

Adlai Stevenson—"I pray the President will make a quick recovery."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader—"My hopes and my prayers are with the President and I know that every American is wishing earnestly as possible for his speedy recovery."

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, chairman of the Senate GOP Conference—"I hope for a speedy recovery for the sake of the President, his family and the country."

Rep. Usher L. Burdick (R-N.-D.)—"I was afraid that the President was exercising too much. He should have rested instead of playing so much golf."

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.)—"I do trust that it is not too serious and that he has a speedy recovery."

Paul Butler, Democratic National Chairman—"I thought that all Americans would be distressed to know of his illness and would be hopeful for his complete and speedy recovery."

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas—"I am deeply sorry to hear of his illness. His services are vitally needed by all nations at this time..."

Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio)—"The stroke was evidentally very light and we can be thankful for that. Everybody can pray and hope that he will have an uneventful and quick recovery."

Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.)—"I know that today all citizens will join in prayers for complete recovery of the President of the United States."

French Premier Felix Gaillard—"I profoundly regret the indisposition which prevents one of the artisans of the liberation of Europe from coming to Paris to bring his contribution to the necessary reinforcement of the (NATO) pact constituted for its defense. Personally I have the most earnest wishes for the rapid and complete recovery of the President of the United States."

Italian Premier Adone Zoli—"Besides our personal grief over the President's illness together with that of the entire people of Italy, we must also express our preoccupation—especially in view of the international situation."

Central Part Of State Asks Insurance Boost

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Insurance Department today studied a proposal by the Capital Hospital Service for a $2,500,000 a year increase in Blue Cross rates for more than 721,000 subscribers in the central Pennsylvania area.

State Insurance Commissioner Francis R. Smith said his agency's legal and actuarial staffs will give the proposed new rates, filed Monday, a complete study and a hearing will be scheduled as soon as possible.

Blue Cross officials said if the would become effective sometime new rates were approved they next spring. The increases would apply to all members except individuals in the 30-day Class 11 category, and those enrolled under special contracts with employers and labor unions.

The officials said 93.7 per cent of the present average monthly income of $1,244,500 goes out for hospitalization expenses and 6.2 per cent for administrative expenses, leaving only 0.1 per cent for reserve.

Joyous Yule Customs Observed World-wide

Most Countries Mark the Christmas Season with Gaiety

The real and beautiful meaning and spirit of Christmas is the only aspect of the gift-giving holiday that is shared by all the civilized nations of the world.

Greetings, the spiritual bestower of gifts, dates of celebration, traditions and superstitions are unique in each land or region. December 25 is, however, generally the red letter day.

"The melting pot of the world" applies to the American Christmas celebration as well as to its people. Here, as in no other land, more of these ideas and ways-of-doing are intermingled, though our Christmas most closely resembles that of the English.

But, America, too, has one really unique "tradition" — Santa Claus! The jolly fellow we see around at Christmas is not the same gift-giver in other countries. He is, however, a composite of many of those "Santas" across the seas.

Bayberry candles are an origination of the American settlers — and the poinsettia plant is a native of tropical America.

In Norway, "Julenissen," a gay elf, arrives on Christmas Eve as shouts of "Gledelig Yul" ring out.

"St. Nicholas" dressed in black robes rides over the house tops on a white steed on December 5. He visits the children of Austria, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and Greece.

"Joyeux Noel" is the happy French greeting and "Pere Noel" is the bearer of gifts.

Italian children are visited by "La Befana," a good fairy, on January 5, the Eve of Epiphany. "Buone Feste Natalize" is their greeting.

"Feliz Navidad" is the phrase of the day, January 5, in Spain. There the Three Wise Men fill the children's shoes with gifts.

"Lan Khoony-Khoong," meaning "Nice Old Father," fills oddly-shaped stockings made by Chinese children.

The Christ Child Himself, traveling on foot, visits the children of Germany. "Froeliche Wienachten," they say on that day.

St. Lucy brings gifts to the children of Denmark and Sweden. She gives the girls of Switzerland gifts as Father Christmas makes the boys happy.

Other "Santas" are "Father Frost" in new Russia and "Babooshka" to the old Russians. "Father Christmas" goes to England, "Good Stars from Heaven" send down gifts to the young ones in Poland and the Slavic countries.

"A Host of Angels" shower gifts over Hungary. Gay elves appear with gifts in Finland. "Papa Noel," who looks much like Santa Claus but enters through windows, is found in Brazil.

In Bulgaria, it's "Grandpa Koledan" who arrives on Christmas, but there the children's big holiday is New Year's Day. In Scandanavia "Santa" arrives riding a goat.

The Merry Christmas greeting in other lands is: Vesele Vanoce" in Bohemia and "Chestita Koleda" in Bulgaria. "Sretan Bojic" is said in Croatian.

In Sweden it's Glad Yul"; in Wales, "Nadolig Llawen; in Ukrania, "Srozhdestvom Krisovym"; in Portugal, "Boas Festas."

These and many more are the interesting, exciting customs and greetings that make up the Christmas observances throughout the Christian world.

Rosemary and Bay—Flowers of Yule, Too

Rosemary and bay have long been associated with the story of Christmas.

Legends say that Virgin Mary rested by a rosemary plant, and placed the Christ Child's garments upon its branches, whereupon the white blossoms turned to a lovely lavender to honor the Child.

The bay tree with its lancelike leaves and purple berries, was said to have sheltered the Family during a thunderstorm; thus it was believed that lightning would not strike a bay tree.

'DEAR SANTA': — Writes this youngster as dad, with years of similar experience, stands by with helpful advice. Such moments as this, and there are many at Christmas-time, can be clearly captured and preserved forever on film. Keep a camera within easy reach in your home this Christmas season.

Make Bright, Window Look

You can quickly make your own Cathedral "stained glass" window in your home!

Just take jewel-colored cellophane and cut into many shapes. Apply to a clear glass door or window with rubber cement or scotch tape.

Let your imagination wander with the subject and shapes that please you. The materials are very inexpensive and if you make a mistake, just start over again!

By crinkling the cellophane you get a textured look of pebbled glass!

Old Hymns and Carols Liven Christmas Mood

The carols, hymns and songs that so enrich our Christmas season today are the products of many countries and many centuries.

This beautiful music came to America with the early settlers.

The Germans brought Luther's hymn for children, "Away In A Manger." "God Rest Ye, Merry Gentlemen" came from England. The French gave us "Cantique de Noel" or "O, Holy Night."

The exact origin of "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," translated from the Latin "Adeste Fideles," however, is unknown. Some authorities believe it was written around 1221 and changed through the years by other composers.

American composers began early to fill the roster of Christmas favorites.

In 1730, Charles Wesley, younger brother of John Wesley, founder of the Methodist denomination, wrote "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing."

"It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" was composed in 1849 by Edmund H. Sears, a Unitarian minister.

In 1859, Dr. John Henry Hopkins, Jr., an Episcopalian rector, composed the words and music for "We Three Kings of Bethlehem Are."

"O, Little Town of Bethlehem" was inspired by a trip to the Holy Land. It was composed in 1868 by Phillip Brooks, an Episcopalian minister. The music was written by Lewis H. Redner, organist of Brooks' church.

John Pierpont, churchman from Conn., wrote "Jingle Bells."

It is odd that one of the best-known carols, Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol", written in 1843, is to be read, not sung.

Ancient Legend Of 'Christmas Rose' Is Lovely

As beautiful as the flower itself, is the story of the Christmas Rose.

Legend tells us that a small girl wept as she saw the Three Wise Men pass by on their way to Bethlehem.

An angel appeared to inquire of the child's sadness. The girl, Madelon, told the angel she wept because she had no gift to take to the Christ Child.

In a moment, the ground was covered with pure white roses. Madelon gathered them and hurried to present her gift.

The Christ Child smiled when he saw the roses. He reached out and as he touched them, the petals became suffused with pink.

Each year after, the Christmas Rose has gown — during a most unusual season — from the month of His birth, December, to March

Gifts of Books Popular for All on List

Books make a grand gift, especially if they are selected in view of the recipient's particular tastes. Books which are suitable for reference as well as immediate pleasure are best.

The gardener, for example, might enjoy a book which is written in narrative form, but packed with facts for better growing.

For the arm chair traveler, it's easier to select. There are even fiction books which he would enjoy over and over.

Cooking, decorating and sewing books might be a successful gift with the homemaker.

Reference books and dictionaries are fine family gifts.

Sports provide yet another theme for which there are many interesting how-to-do type books. Histories of sports are popular, too.

In selecting books for children, ask the book store clerk to help you or check ahead with the library.

Gifts of books are always fun to get — but they're even more fun if they are read over and over or used again and again.

Some Gift Hints For the Seamstress

The seamstress, professional or amateur, loves to receive gifts to make sewing easier or more fun.

If she really loves to sew, give her a pattern plus enough material, the zipper, buttons and thread for a new dress, robe or lounging outfit.

A dress form, or a gift certificate for one, will make her think you're the most thoughtful person ever!

TB Seal Sale Had Beginning in Denmark

Ask the "man on the street" who originated the Christmas Seal and his answer will probably be, "the National Tuberculosis Association."

The first seals sold in this country for the purpose of raising money for charity were to help stamp out TB However, this was four years and thousands of miles away from the point of origin

The idea of seals for use in charity fund raising was conceived by a postal clerk in Denmark in 1903.

Einar Holboell mentioned his plan to his fellow workers who enthusiastically began to help him

The idea reached King Christian, who approved, and the image of Queen Louise was placed on the first seals in 1904.

Jacob Riis, Danish-born American, saw the seals on letters and packages arriving in this country

In 1907, a magazine article, which Riis wrote about seals, attracted the attention of a Red Cross worker, Miss Emily Bissell. She was concerned about the fate of a small sanatorium and decided to use the idea in its behalf.

The first seal in America, designed by Miss Bissell, was a wreath of holly encircling the words "Merry Christmas!"

She promptly had 50,000 of them printed, but had no way of selling them. The aid of a columnist on a Philadelphia newspaper was enlisted. Within a few weeks, $3,000 was collected.

The following year, a nation-wide sale was held. It was supported by publications and groups all over the country — and sponsored by the American Red Cross and the National Tuberculosis Association.

Today, thousands of dollars are raised each year by the sale of this one seal In addition, dozens of other groups, too, have taken up the idea. Many kinds of vital charity work are now aided by the sale of seals.

Make Your Own 'Umbrella' Tree

Own an old umbrella? Remove its cover. Paint the frame any Christmas-type color. "Plant" the handle in a painted or paper wrapped flower pot. Secure the spokes with tape to fit around the top of the container Tie on balls and add a star to the top. You have created a most novel Christmas tree!

DELICIOUSLY LACE - FROSTED — topped with Borgana collar that makes this sweater perfect for dressy evening affairs. It's completely tubbable What a delightful Christmas gift!

BUFFET FOR THE HOLIDAYS — Makes serving so easy! And this is a quick and simple menu that will delight all your guests. The unusual main dish is a macaroni casserole.

Christmas Food Treats Date Back in Time

There is no sense overlooked in the pleasure of Christmas. The smells and taste of the Day's special foods are a delight to all.

But, have you ever wondered where the traditional eggnog, plum pudding, turkey and fruit cake originated?

Mmm! Egg Nog!

Eggnog is an American concoction. Too rich for daily consumption (twelve egg yolks, two quarts of cream and a pound of sugar to each fifth of rum), eggnog soon became the main refreshment of the southern holiday open house.

Rum, in the early days of eggnog, was an essential ingredient of this drink Today, eggnog is enjoyed by many without it.

Plum Pudding

"Frumenty," the early name of plum pudding began in pre-Roman England. It was made of steed wheat boiled in milk, raisins, sugar and spice. Later called plum porridge, it became plum pudding in 1670.

Turkey Treat

Turkey is native to the New World. It was introduced to Europe by returning Spanish settlers and first appeared on the menu of an English Christmas banquet in 1524.

Fruit Cake

It was the Romans that originated fruit cake. Almonds were added to the rich spices to symbolize the pain and pleasure of life.

Wassail

Wassail is often served in place of eggnog. In England, where the drink originated, wassail was usually prepared in a large wooden bowl The base of the drink, cider, along with seasonings were placed in the bowl and it was set on the hearth. Apples were tied above and as they roasted, the drippings fell into the bowl. The name "wassail" comes from the middle English "waes hael," meaning be thou well!

If you're planning to serve wassail at your open house this Christmas, you can keep it warm in a chafing dish.

Everyone Can Make Good Use Of Slippers

Be a 'slipper Santa'....give everyone on your list slippers this (and each) Christmas. They'll be delighted!

Toasty-warm slippers with novel trims are adored by children.

He will welcome comfort most of all, and prefers his slippers to resemble casual shoe types with sturdy soles (for wandering about the yard).

For the ladies, the bunny-lined footwarmer or slippersocks are favored in cold climates, while scuffs are more often the choice where it's warm. The latter are perfect for dressing-room to shower wear.

High or medium heel d'orsays and mules are popular with elegantly-casual at-home wear.

Younger girls lean toward the ballerina slipper, embroidered or jeweled.

Other sure-to-lease styles are beaded moccasins, jeweled satin or velvet slippers, thong sandals, in - step - strapped wedgies, and dressy slip-ons.

Step ahead now choose slippers for all this Christmas!

Small Leather Items Offered In Gay Array

One place many people fail to look when searching for a novelty-nice gift is the luggage shop.

These stores generally carry many, many items in addition to large traveling bags. And, the small leather pieces start as low as $1 in most places.

Fitted cases for both men and women containing manicure equipment, toiletries (or containers), or miniature sewing necessities are lovely gifts.

Billfolds, of course, as well as change purses, belts, watchbands and cases for cigarettes and lighters may be found there.

Leather desk sets, briefcases, necktie cases, pocket notebooks or handy pack car visors are especially good for men.

Jewel cases and hand-made purses are lovely to give women.

This Christmas take a look at the large and wonderful-to-give selection of small leather items.

How to Display Cards

To hang cards from wall to ceiling without marring — tack a piece of cellophane tape (sticky side out) to the molding and baseboard. Just press the back of each card, as you receive them, to the tape. To keep the front pages of bookfashion cards in place, slant the top of the card is a little to the right.

Car-Owners Easy to Please With Presents

For drivers who care for their cars, auto accessories present a wonderful gift!

Luxury items may be all he or she needs, but they'll love the addition of those. Among the many items you may select are visor dispensers, compass, dash tray, tissue holders, safety light, mirrors, a car radio, and others.

A dispenser that issues cigarettes, lighted, is a fine gift for the smoker.

There's an almost unending list of articles that are really practical.

Seat covers, lanterns, flashlights and car cleaning equipment are always useful.

Some oil companies offer books of tickets for $10 up that may be torn off and used in place of cash for the purchase of gas.

A membership is one of the auto clubs can be arranged for about $20. You may be warmly thanked for this gift many times throughout the year.

There is a wide variety in both items and price range for the auto. Give the car owner on your Christmas list an accessory for a marvelously-novel gift.

FOR YOUNG PARTY-GOERS — The fitted velvet bodice is lavish with starched lace. The full, gathered skirt and button-on cummerbund are of Eastman Chromspun acetate. A delight in gray and white stripes, with its own petticoat.

Deck Fireplace For Gala Yule Look This Year

Since the fireplace, where there is one, is so often the center of Christmas entertaining, you will want the decorations there to be especially lovely.

The mood of your decorations will, naturally, depend on the traditions of your family's Christmas.

Some people, though "strictly modern" about every thing else, enjoy a very traditional Christmas.

This, which is the feeling of many, is not really the problem it might seem.

The key to decorating a modern fireplace in a traditional way is to keep arrangements simple.

In addition, such "traditionals" as stars and angels may be created in soft and yet unusual colors. Pale pink, yellow and orange are striking.

Some of the most successful Christmas decorations combine the traditional with the unusual and new, too.

Candle 'Tip'

For an inexpensive, large candle decoration — wrap a square paper milk carton in any bright Christmas paper. Add a paper "flame" to the top with cellophane tape. It's lovely!

Most everyone enjoys the passive pleasure of listening to music That's why records, phonographs high fidelity systems, radios and televisions are wonderful gifts

But, for the active music fans gifts of sheet music or instruments make them Christmas memorable

A piano or organ is a really major gift with prices starting around $500

Brass instruments average in cost at about $125 For the violinist a practice instrument can be purchased for $50 or more

But for $1 to $35 and up there are a number of instruments that will please all ages Nearly anyone can learn to play one of these instruments without professional instruction He will probably entertain only himself, but he can do that and in a relatively short time

The guitar will be extremely popular with the teenage male Banjos and ukeleles produce rather fine calypso numbers, too

Youngsters who appear to lack any desire to play an instrument, can usually be encouraged to try the harmonica, accordion or concertina

A gift of music may start someone on a career or a satisfying diversion that will last throughout their life

---

Ice cubes may be used to skim the grease from gravy or a stew When ice is dropped into the hot liquid, surplus grease collects around the cube and may be easily lifted out

Sewing Machine Attachments Good

A gift of machine attachments is a grand one Scissors for pinking and buttonholes, in addition to shears in three sizes, that cut well, are terrific extras for any sewing box.

Hem-markers, automatic pinners, spool racks or baskets and cutting boards save much time and energy for the seamstress.

Whatever it is, if she doesn't have it, the dressmaker on your list will be delighted with a gift of sewing equipment.

Young Miss Favors Glamour Gifts, Too

The little Miss in the 6 to 12 age group need no longer suppress her desire to "dress-up" like mom or big sister. The selection of glamour gifts available for the youngest includes everything from the "skin out," in gifts that cater to her every dream.

Junior edition party dresses show distinct traces of Paris-design influence in rustling silks, sheer wools, corduroys and velveteens, many of them in very glamorous blacks!

Trim winter cottons in plaids and solids will go to school in style; skirts, flared or fashionably pleated can be worn with gift blouses and sweaters; the favored car coat becomes the smart "scooter coat" when transposed to this age bracket.

Even practical gifts are touched with glitter! Sweaters and sweater sets in wool, wool-blends and orlon are adorned for her with sparkling beads and pearls or trimmed with embroidery or applique.

Quilting lounging pajamas, cozy dusters and robes, knit-trimmed flannelette pajamas, dainty nightgowns and pretty bed-slippers with jewel or shearling trim will brighten her bedtime!

Preferred accessories include soft, bunny-fur ear clips, muffs, ascots and mittens; fake fur collars to pin on her sweaters; gay wool scarves and caps to wear outdoors.

Rainy day gifts range from fisherman's slickers, scaled to size, to delightful plastic ensembles of matching coat, cap and umbrella.

Though your "precious angel" may prefer tomboy activities, she'll drool over the toiletry kits specially designed for hand care and good grooming.

Dainty charm bracelets and pearl necklaces, some packed in delicate vinyl purses make this charming gift do double duty.

An overnight case will hold everything when she visits grandma, thrill her with its resemblance to a model's hat box.

Toiletry Items Are Popular

Toiletries for the modern woman are both a necessity and a luxury. She requires them to add to her total loveliness. . .and when she uses them, she feels utterly feminine and deliciously luxurious!

Toiletries are increasing in popularity as gifts, especially at Christmas, for that reason. When in doubt as to the suitability of a practical or simply lovely gift, toiletries are right!

This year, even the little girls can begin to enjoy their own toiletries. Several manufacturers are of toiletries for young moppets.

These items are boxed for extra attraction — including cutout dolls, toys, charms for bracelets and the like.

For the early cosmetic stage, there are now many shades, all soft and proper, that will please the tastes of both mother and daughter.

Lipsticks for women, besides offering a multitude of exquisite shades, appear encased in elegant tubes. These range in price from a little above the usual cost of the lipstick to practically unlimited figures!

Perfume, cologne, all the liquid toiletries pour from bottles that even look expensive when empty. They are jeweled, gilded, shaped and beribboned.

Boxes for these items, as well as powders, bubble bath creations, soaps, make-up bases, nail polishes, and all the rest are most exciting, too.

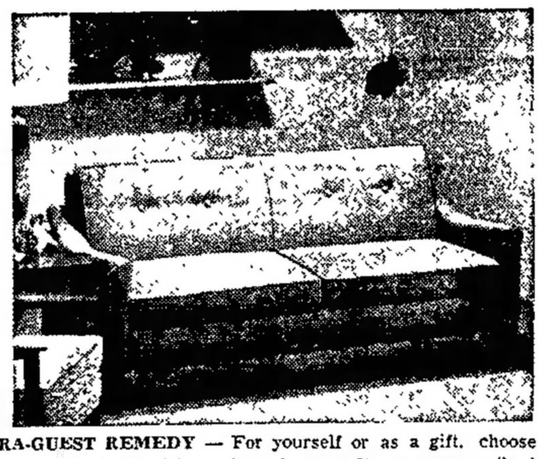
Sets embracing the same fragrance of various types of toiletries make perfect gifts, as well. And, as with the individual items, these are often available in special Christmas packages or can be purchased in their year 'round setting.

"Extras" are included with many of the grown-up selections, too, though of course, much more sophisticated in nature than those of the little gals!

Delicate to see (but sturdy) "premiums" such as powder mitts with dusting powder enhance the gift of toiletries.

Luxury does begin to overshadow necessity in such items as 18-karat gold-plated hair brushes. But it should "last a lifetime."

A gift of toiletries is always suitable — for every age — in any price. There are many wonderful, special-for-Christmas items, too.



EXTRA-GUEST REMEDY — For yourself or as a gift, choose this handsome sofa in Danish modern design. It converts easily into a very comfortable extra bed. Available in 200 fabrics.

Teen Gifts Are Many

Whether she's looking ahead to college, the business world or marriage, there's a gift sure to evoke "ohs" and "ahs" from every teenager on your list.

"Something to Wear" always comes first. Running the gamut from smartly practical to glamorous, the new youthful fashions and accessories are bound to thrill her.

Bulky cardigans, classic sweater sets and glitter trimmed sweater ensembles can be had in carefree miracle yarns, soft wools and wool mixtures.

The luxury of cashmere in newly vibrant shades is almost every girl's dream.

Skirts range from slim or flared woolens right for casual and school wear to sequinned, quilted or appliqued affairs, for dates or proms.

There's a perfect blouse for her in the newest styles fashioned of drip-dry cottons, soft crepes, warm jerseys and floaty nylons, in tailored or dressy types.

Gloves, from wool mitts to suave kidskins, colorful scarves; big "tote" bags; demure evening purses; and exciting costume jewelry are finishing touch accessories.

Always thrilling too, is toilet water or perfume, for her enchanted evenings.

Lingerie is always welcome. No girl ever has enough slips, petticoats, nightgowns or pajamas. Dusters and robes are other valued additions to her wardrobe.

There's hardly a girl who doesn't dream of her own record player. Obtainable in many models, including portables, it will trot off with her to college or her own home.

A portable typewriter is an ideal, lifetime gift. Pearls, cultured or the fabulous fake variety also fall in this category.

Copy-cat Styles Tops with Pop, Son, Mom, Sis

'Look-alike' fashions are the perfect gift for the mother-daughter, father-son combinations on your gift list.

Sports ensembles and pajamas are the most popular "copy-cat" items for young 'n old males!

For the feminine combo there is more of a variety to satisfy both

Always sure-to-please are — robes, gowns or lounging sets in identical styles and fabrics!

Sweaters, skirts, rainwear and accessories are tops in regular or petite editions.

Several misses to a family sometimes presents the problem of envy about gifts received. These exact-except-for-size models will please all — and equally on Christmas morning.

Christmas Trim

For fun and a Christmas conversation-piece, trim a small tree with unusual items that fit into your home's decor. If an oriental flavor will do, miniature fans and parasols make a delightful way to trim. See the party-favor shops for similar ways to add gaiety to your home.

Pine Cone Cut

If you will cut a pine cone lengthwise at Christmas, you will see the imprint of the Holy Infant's hand.

Lovely Fur Will Enchant Fair Lady

Fur . .(like diamonds) is the most wanted "wish" on every woman's list! And, this season, fur is stronger fashionwise than it's been in years.

Gifts of fur can range from leopard earrings to full-length sable coats.

Detachable collars and cuffs are particularly popular this season. They go hand-in-hand with belts, hats and bags.

The "little" wraps of fur — scarves, capes, stoles and jackets are beautifully fashioned of all the elegant furs this year!

Many short coats in fur wear wonderfuly well for the most casual affairs, too.

The important furs are fox, mink, broadtail and leopard! White mink, ermine and fluffy white fox furs are the after-dark "stars."

Gelatin salads in any shape are nicer "tied" with a cream cheese or whipped cream ribbon and bow at Christmas.

Candy Gifts Are Traditional

Christmas is the season of mirth and merriment, of sugar plums and spice, of drinks and delights. It's the time of year when holiday hospitality is at its peak.

Therefore, it's a good idea to keep a buffet table set with simple, yet elegant foods for those who drop by to exchange Christmas greetings or help to trim the tree.

Set the table with your prettiest punch bowls filled with both an alcoholic punch and a non-alcoholic drink, platters of cookies, cheese and crackers and an assortment of the freshly-made fine quality chocolates that you can buy at your local retail candy shops.

Each box of assorted chocolates usually comes in a variety of perhaps twenty different centers so your guests can choose to their heart's content from the soft creamy centers, chewy nut and fruit centers, rich chocolate-covered caramels, crunches and the like.

There are numerous types of candies for you to serve, candies being one of the best party items, and a note of gracious hospitality, but you'll find that those chocolates that are freshly-made are the tastiest and will offer your guests the most enjoyment.

CAN'T BEAT IT — golf gifts for the man who does! A good gift is balls since no one ever has enough. A new bag would please him plenty. Or how about clever golf head covers!

He'll Welcome Ease A-Foot For Christmas

For his comfort, bring him slippers (or cozy casuals will do) in a nice Christmas gift box!

The ever-favored shoe-type slippers, cut low on the sides for ease and freedom, will be just as popular this year.

New are many styles of slippers in cloth with leather trim or vice versa.

In the casual limelight, overshadowing suede, are novel-nice shaggy, long-haired leathers.

The biggest news in this category comes from both America and Italy.

The latter introduces a squared-off toe, shown most often in the loafer style.

Stick-and-turn, achieved by using the dress makers' method of stitching underneath, is the key to the new American design.

Do choose to give casual footwear to the man on your Christmas list. He will love you for it!

Danish Trumpets

Small metal trumpets that often trim Christmas trees began with a Danish custom. They used to play four hymns on them at Yule — symbolizing the four corners of the world.

Assorted 'Gadgets' For Homes

Women love to receive items to make their home work easier. And there are many choices, in all price ranges, of these gifts which you might give.

A wall can-opener is the handiest gadget in the kitchen! Many have magnetic lid-lifters, too!

A potato cutter is a "must" if the family "goes for" French fries. There's a choice of shoestring, disk or scalloped cutters.

An ice crusher or ice shaver even improves ice cubes! It's wonderful for parties — making drinks look so professional.

An automatic juicer is a woman's delight at 7 a. m. (or earlier). It squeezes out more of the fruit's marvelous juices, too.

Leftovers become delicious sauces or sandwich spreads when the lady of the house has a meat and food grinder.

Tray carts, of course, wonderful for setting and clearing the table — or for dozens of things.

Lessen your favorite lady's load with a gift for her home this Christmas.

Electrical appliances that spell convenience and time-saving make Christmas giving and receiving much more fun!

Give him a rest with an automatic ice cream freezer or a knife sharpener.

Help her to quicker beauty with an electric hair dryer or sun lamp.

For post-holiday "headaches" and long after, such gifts as a massager-vibrator, electric heating pad or infa-red heating lamp will be welcomed.

The recipient of these thoughtful gifts will remember you for years!

Country's Freedom; Christmas Gift, Too

The foundation for the preservation of the freedom to celebrate such Christian beliefs as Christmas — this was the gift to our country on that very day in December 1716.

It happened when George Washington and his men won the battle at Trenton, Pa. That was the beginning of a long line of victories that eventually led to ultimate victory and total independence.

SILVER 'SWITCHES' — Exquisite silver bowls that switch from food servers to centerpieces are doubly-appreciated gifts. These dishes move with ease from functional to decorative.

Dolls for Christmas Proving Fashionable

This year's Christmas dolls will delight the heart of every little girl — and give her an exciting peek into the wonderful grownup world she looks forward to so eagerly.

Dolls are "more elegant than people" this Yuletide, and come in a variety of styles and sizes, all outfitted right down to the last detail.

Baby dolls are fashioned of vinyl that simulates an infant's soft skin. They wet, drink, coo, cry, open and shut their eyes.

Complete with hospital ind. tag, bootees, cap and wrapper, or dressed in rompers and paired with a collapsible play pen, they are the next best thing to real babies!

The biggest news is the fashion doll of '57, smartly clothed in the latest styles whether dressed for bed or an evening affair.

These dolls are accessorized with complete wardrobes that can be purchased separately or added to at any time.

Individually beautiful, these dolls are the answer to every little girl's dream of a thrilling Christmas.

Tom-tom Carols

Tom-toms accompany the carol singing of Philippine students at Christian schools.

Consider Closet Accessories as Practical Gifts

A place for everything is, naturally, the prerequisite for keeping everything in its place. This is especially true where wardrobes are concerned, and gifts for "tidying-up" and "space-making" are good ideas.

Gay-colored, quilted boxes for handkerchiefs, hosiery, gloves and scarves encourage "ship-shapeliness" of bureau drawers.

Smart chrome multi-hanger units for blouses, skirts, handbags, belts or ties; shoe racks, too — are practical presents with a handy future.

A convenient, multi - drawers small chest can be used by either man or woman.

Notion departments feature these practical, "gifted" items as well as dozens of others!

Garment and blanket bags in all sizes and colors; wardrobe closets that may be easily dismantled for storage all have their own appeal to the good housekeeper.

Gift of Time Piece Christmas Item

Sunburst wall clocks, timepieces suspended in glass, and clocks made to look like something else are a few of the most favored modern designs.

Among clocks that are perennially popular are the CooCoo, Anniversary and Grandfather Clocks.

Watches for women have come to be a true accessory. In addition to the new bracelet and costume wrist watches, many are made to hang from a belt or be worn in place of a pin!

Remember the children on your Christmas list when buying watches, too. The most inexpensive models can make them feel very important.

Gift 'Notions'

Clean shoes are as important as clean garments, so give your self and your family a good grooming shoe care kit for Christmas this year.

Pamper Leisure Moments

This holiday season, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, there is a trend toward more and finer at ease wear for men and boys — the kind of clothes that can't help but make a fellow's leisure hours more fun.

This ties in perfectly with another trend — winter vacations, week-end or weeks' long.

No matter what a fellow is doing, he'll enjoy it more if he's dressed right for it. Whatever the age — man, youth or boy — he'll come off a winner with gifts like these.

For snowy settings — skiing, iceboating, snowshoeing, skating — give him a gift of a classic duffle coat or one of those bulky Scandinavian outer sweaters. The duffle coat easily slips on over inner garments, and, above all, makes a man feel right in sharp, icy temperatures.

Those bulky knit sweaters do this too, with an added splash of daring colors and patterns for holiday outings. Big, roomy and warm, they come with crew and turtle necks. Matching knit caps, (sometimes socks, too) go with them.

Skiers and skaters can use a pair or two of taper-legged ski pants strapped to go inside the boots to keep them from creeping up the legs. In navy, black or grays chiefly, they are attractive and flattering.

Desk Items Good Gifting for Old And Young Alike

Gifts for the home or office desk warmly remind of your thoughtfulness all year.

Letter writing and home or office business chores are made much more pleasant with handy, beautiful writing tools.

Fountain pens, ball point pens and mechanical pencils are marvelous gifts for everyone, including children.

For small youngsters, thick, soft lead pencils or crayons are best. For 2nd and 3rd grades, mechanical pencils or ball points are preferred over the fountain pen.

Desk sets are lovely and eliminate the 'fumble' for a writing implement. They may be plain or include a clock, ink holder, or clip tray.

Personalized postcards are a novel gift and an extremely useful one, too.

A really appreciated gift is a stamp jar or holder — filled with stamps.

JACQUARD CARDIGANS — make a wonderful gift! The white ribbed collar sets off the three-color foulard pattern, border trim. In 100 per cent wool. (Also in women's sizes).

NIFTY NECK FEATURE — allows an inch to an inch and a half expansion for junior to grow in! Made of wash and wear white broadcloth. It's a gift that will please Son and Mom!

Out of Legend and Fact Comes the Santa Claus Legend as We Know It

Why does Santa Claus have a white beard? Why does he drive a sleigh and have six reindeer? Why does he enter by way of the chimney? And where did he get his name, Santa Claus? How old is he and where was he born?

Even with the best reference sources, it's difficult to establish just one set of facts about Santa Claus. But, after-all, is it so important whether the name Santa Claus has its origin in the Dutch "Sint Nikolass" or "Sinterklass" — or in the German "Christkindl" or "Kristking" or "Kriss Kringle"?

Such inconsistencies actually make the history of Santa Claus and his forerunners all the more interesting.

It is generally agreed that the idea for our modern day Santa Claus began with a young boy called Nicholas over 1600 years ago.

During his early years, growing up in the Asia Minor portion of present-day Turkey, he was generous and pious. These qualities grew within him until as a man he became the Bishop of Myra.

His most famous deed of generosity was directed toward three beautiful daughters of a poor nobleman. He wanted dowries for these girls so they could be married and well cared for.

So, Nicholas on three different nights tossed bags of gold through a window of their home so each daughter could be married.

This tale was translated into languages the world over and soon, whenever unexpected gifts were received, St. Nicholas was credited.

St. Nicholas, known by other names adapted to the spoken language, was pictured as a kindly, white bearded, black robed bishop who rode a white horse over the housetops when he distributed gifts.

So it is to St. Nicholas that we give thanks for Santa's custom of giving, full white beard, riding overhousetops, and partially, for his name.

Santa Claus had many other forerunners, some who still bring gifts in his place to children in other lands.

"Another ancestor" of "Santa" came from Germany. "Christkindl," sometimes called "Kristking" is a little girl, a messenger of the Christ child.

This same angel-girl also was the gift-giver to the Swiss children. There she arrived in a sleigh drawn by six reindeer.

In Norway, "Julenissen" or "Jul Tomten," a gay elf, left gifts in the hayloft and in return received a bowl of pudding from the children.

So, in Norway, Santa's fine helpers the elves, were found.

And in England, the chimney was swept before New Year's Day so that good luck would have a way into the home. This, then, was the novel and perfect way for Santa Claus to make his deliveries.

Dr. Clement Clark Moore, a seminary professor, wrote "A Visit from St. Nicholas" ('The Night Before Christmas") for his seven children. He vividly described Santa Claus, bringing together all the many legends that were "known" at that time.

In 1863, cartoonist Thomas Nast was commissioned to illustrate Moore's poem. Santa Claus, much as we see him today pictured everywhere at Christmas, emerged on Nast's drawing board 94 years ago in New York City.

Three years later it was definitely decided that this red and white garbed fellow known as Santa Claus — with the big heart, the jolly face and abundant good-will —is here to stay and is quite, quite real!

The decision came in a famous letter published in the New York Sun in 1897. It was the answer to an inquiry received from Virginia O'Hanlon, an eight year old girl. She asked "Please tell me the truth; is there a Santa Claus?"

The reply that stirred the hearts of people across the nation came from Francis E. Church. . . "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. . . ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

Give Collectors Favorite Items This Christmas

The "what to give" problem is a simple matter if the people on your list are "collectors"!

Generally, part of the fun of collecting is remembering who added a certain item or where it was found. So this a gift that is doubly welcomed.

The key to selecting a really fine addition to any collection — from stamps and coins to miniatures and antiques — is to choose something just a little different.

Shopping for collector's items can be real fun if you have plenty of time to browse. Small specialty shops and antique shops are excellent places to look.

Miniatures of any type of item collected are always fine additions. The novelty of their size is enough to make them extra-special.

Choose with thoughtfulness and your gift to the collector will be most appreciated.

TRIPLE TREAT — A beautiful set for your lovely lady — with matching necklace, bracelet and earrings. They're textured, tailored and available in either gold or silver finish.

HAWAIIAN HOLIDAY-GIFT — A lei of pearls to brighten her day! From golden chains, the mock pearls bob gaily, and shower from the matching earrings. A bracelet is also available.

Yes, masculine accessories, prepackaged, many in gay, gift boxes are a delight to receive, and fun to shop for.

Jewelers Offering Array of Top-Gifts

The joy of giving is the joy of receiving turned inside out. And no one knows more about this happy Christmas psychology than the jeweler.

A recent survey conducted by the Jewelry Industry Council showed that the gifts people most like to receive were the ones they gave most frequently.

At the top of every list for both receiving and giving were the special lasting gifts that come from the jewelers.

Personal jewelry — for all ages and in all prices, both for men and women ranks high as "most wanted to receive" gifts. This year, with its important changes in jewelry, a jewelry gift is an exciting delight.

Cascades of colored stones and beads to lend emphasis to new clothes, the beauty of gold worked in fine filigree designs, or newly textured with a completely new look, are touches of fashion as well as beauty in the new jewelry.

Glittering dress-up jewelry — such as the soft flattery of pearls, used along or combined with colored stones in finely worked settings, are touches of beauty any woman wears and remembers long past the holiday.

Fine gold is worked in delicate new shapes — in necklaces, pins and earrings that make "modern heirlooms." Sterling silver is a brand new jewelry note this year and has a fresh and beautiful look.

For the woman whose sense of beauty extends to her home, the jeweler features a wide variety of silver dishes, trays and bowls, to give elegance and beauty to a room. Flat silverware and fine ceramic accessories will delight her as appreciations of her home-making role.

Men also lead two lives, as the jeweler well knows. As personal creatures, the gifts of adornment have a special place under their Christmas tree.

Often the things a man most enjoys wearing are the things he is least likely to buy for himself. Some of the new, elegantly styled cufflinks sets with colored stones, matching tie bars, or tie tacs, money clasps, belt buckles, wallets, watches and watch bands are all gifts that give day-to-day pleasure.

This year men's rings have a special place on any thoughtful gift list. They are enjoying a real renaissance — featuring initials, signets, some of the beautiful masculine stones like onyx, or set with the insignia of his favorite organization.

The hosting and business hours of a man's life lead to many special gift ideas.

Handsome desk accessories, in beautiful leather, or in gleaming silver or other metals, give a note of distinction to any man's office.

For his hosting hours, the handsome bar accessories featured by jewelers make gifts that have a useful as well as a long enjoyable life.

Top Your List With Hats and Caps for Him

Fun to give and even more fun to receive are the colorful caps and hats that add dash to the outfit of the male sportsman and outdoor lover.

Winter sports headgear include not only the traditional ski caps, but also such novelties as brightly knitted toques and flat Ivy caps.

If your particular male is the type that prefers to watch rather than participate, you can't go wrong choosing a smartly casual Tyrolean hat.

Sporting fanciful brims, tapered or slim, with flat or telescope crowns, they come in rough or suede finishes and rich velours.

These are the little luxuries he loves, but probably won't buy himself. Perfect for gifts!

First Stocking Hung in France

Did you know that the first Christmas stocking was first hung in either France or Belgium.

Did you know that misletoe was used centuries ago to ward off witches and now it is used to lure a kiss!

Did you know that the first Christmas tree erected in a church in U S, in 1851 shocked its Cleveland congregation. It was considered too heathenish!

Did you know that the Druids believed that evergreen trees meant eternal life, and this is where the custom of using evergreen swags, wall mantel and doorway decoration comes from!

Extra White Table Cloth for This

Who can't use an extra white table cloth? The most inexpensive one will do for this idea. Sew snaps on it and on the backs of felt Christmas designs. These designs can be purchased or you can buy pieces of felt and cut your own. When Easter comes, or any holiday, snap on new, felt designs.

Gift Tips for Men Who Like Fix-up Chores

If you know a man who loves to 'putter' in his workshop or yard, gifts of tools are perfect

There's a tremendous variety of garden, building and 'fix-it' items to choose from. These range in price from 50c to as much as you want to pay.

For $5 or less, you can put together a fine gift for the handyman! Fill regular glass jars, labeled, with a collection of nails screws, tacks, etc., in various sizes.

Or, why not fill a box with an assortment of miniature tools (Smaller-than-average hammers, screw drivers and pliers are often useful for intricate jobs or repairs in tight places)

Of course, if you can find out what is needed, gifts that 'round out' the work-shop tool supply are always most appreciated

For the most expensive gift the power tool that converts for many uses is very popular. And was there ever a man with a yard who didn't want a power mower?

Your local hardware dealer can help you with your selection.

Eternal Life

The world's oldest Christmas trees, 400 of them, stand 600 feet above the Mediterranean. These are the cedars of Lebanon.

One out of every six automobile drivers in the United States has eye defects without realizing it

'Traveling Mates' Will Be Welcomed by Both Sexes This Christmas

This year, as almost never before, luggage and luggage accessories are among the most-wanted, most welcome of Christmas gifts

With winter vacations assuming more and more importance, with weekend trips a national habit, and with cross-country and foreign travel reaching a new high, luggage is now in almost constant use, no longer relegated to the closet and dragged out for a week or two in the summer

LUGGAGE FOR HER

For ultra luxury nothing equals the thrill of giving or receiving a set of matched luggage. Three pieces, usually consisting of pullman case weekend case and overnight case are considered the best "starter" for a woman

Obtainable in smooth washable vinyl, in modern aluminum and fiberglass in leather and like-leathers these sets are all lightweight, and beautifully made with inside pockets, linings smart handles and decorative trim.

LUGGAGE FOR HIM

For a man, two pieces are the minimum, and nothing could be more deluxe than a gift of a two-suitor and matching companion case. With men's tastes more conservative than women's, it's natural that luggage designed for him is fashioned of the traditional leather or cowhide

However, the 1957 styling, trim and colors for him are as up to the minute as hers.

ACCESSORIES

Makeup and toiletry cases are more attractive than ever, and can easily double as overnight bags Most are fitted with tray, bottle holders and have plenty of room to stow pajamas and slippers They come in every conceivable color and covering to delight every woman on your list.

Hat boxes, smart and roomy are a feminine favorite, as are the very new and striking "tote" bags. These hold just about everything and come in nylons, rayons, broadcloths, leathers and tweeds, some with leather trim, in plaids, prints and solids.

FOR CAR TRAVEL

Fold or hang-up wardrobe bags, ideal for car travel make the perfect family gift In lengths for dresses or suits, one or two carpacks will constitute a never-to-be-forgotten gift.

Roomy shoulder bags to hold tickets, traveller's checks and every etcetera, smart attache cases that will make him resemble a traveling tycoon, foldaway jewel or tie cases, all are designed as special gifts for special people who rate the best from you.

Here's Why of 'Xmas' Spelling

Why is "Christmas" sometimes written "Xmas"?

"X" is the Greek letter symbol that is used to represent the name "Christ"

This symbol has been discovered by many archaeological expeditions on the walls of early-Christian period catacombs.

Quite recently a group of scientists discovered the name of Jesus, carved before 70 A. D., among the inscriptions on eleven early-Christian urns.

These urns were uncovered in a cave on the Bethlehem to Jerusalem Road

It is believed that these writings were left by a sect of Hebrews who were followers of Christ and who had denounced Pontius Pilate.

'New' Mink Can Be Taken with Grain of Salt

Fortunately for the wife or sweetheart of the 'poor working man" (or the gal without one), now she can at least enjoy — the look of mink.

Man-made mink, a product of years of extensive research, and a pinch of salt, is at last available to all!

Common ordinary, 'garden variety' salt is an ingredient of dynel. The latter imitation fabric combines with another, orlon, to create the mink-like fur fabric called "mutation".

The frankly phony mink is difficult to distinguish from the 'real thing' by sight Its appearance, however, as bathing suits and sweaters will be a clue (and so will be the cost).

So, if a mink coat appears to appear this Christmas under the tree — take a second look. It's probably there, but accept it as the natural fabric "with a grain of salt"!

PETITE TEA PARTY SERVICE — Is an authentic reproduction in plastic of Russel Wright originals. Service for three has twenty-one lovely pieces. Makes an adorable gift for girls.

BOYS BUILD FOR TOMORROW— With educational "Erector" sets This young man is hard at work on a bucket scoop crane that's designed for unloading grain or moving earth.

FOR FUTURE ARCHITECTS — A skyline construction kit that gives junior a boost toward building skill and interest. He'll enjoy hours of fun recreating a famous building in miniature

Personal Wearable Gifts Nice

Lingerie and accessories are a wonderful gift choice for women! They come in every price range, are both luxurious and practical; and she loves them.

Colors are the big news in lingerie this season. Even basic pink appears in lovely new shades

Hosiery is dominated by color, too Just a hint of tint of which there are many, is the keynote of this accessory.

At-home wear continues to gain in popularity. Either novelty or elegance are appropriate in hostess gowns, robes, dusters or styles designed around the capri pants silhouette.

Gloves, scarves, handkerchiefs and billfolds are always fun to receive.

Detachable collars of many varieties are designed to change or dress up dresses or sweaters. Fabric collars, plain jeweled, of lace, and embroidered, are ever-so versatile Fur, from imitation to mink, is a favorite for collars.

Jeweled evening bags make any woman feel more glamorous. Dressy bags for less formal events are grand to get, too.

A gift of evening slippers will certainly delight her. If size, style and color are a problem, ask your local shoe store about a gift certificate

Sweaters ranging from short-sleeve pull-overs to minktrimmed cashmeres, are marvelous wardrobe additions.

Blouses and the little wrap bring the variety, that every lady seeks, into her wardrobe

For Money Gift

Money at Christmas is always appreciated. But, it's much nicer as a gift when inserted in one of the many novel cards now shown for that purpose.

IT'S A TIE — for the first place among popular gifts for the man on your list These spot and crease-resistant ties are available in stripes and subtle woven prints Narrow widths

WASH AND WEAR — A white business shirt is a welcomed gift And, it's a practical one, too, when it's in 65 per cent Dacron fiber blended with cotton because it requires little or no ironing

Hat Certificate Always Right For the Man

A gift of a man's hat is more appreciated in the form of a gift certificate He can then select the exact style and color he wants And the size will be right!

Many stores offer gift certificate presentation boxes in the form of a miniature hat

Many a man with a gift certificate in hand will soon swap it for two or three hats for his wardrobe — one of the jauntier-than-ever casuals, a dressier hat for business wear and perhaps another for formal occasions

He may also decide to join the ever-lengthening parade of sports caps and break out with a new Ivy model for leisure or sports wear.

Holly, Traditional For Christmas

Holly has long been considered the most sacred of Christmas greens, and the red berries are said to represent the blood of Jesus

"Of all the trees that are in the wood, only the holly bears the crown!"

A display of holly was long a sign of Christian worship

Folklore has it that holly in the window will keep evil spirits away from the house, and holly at a maiden's bedside, on Christmas Eve, will protect her from goblins!

A total of 1 177 different forms of trees grow in the United States

Music Adds Joyous Tone to Holidays

Probably no music in the world today is more joyous and lovely than our Yuletide carols hymns and songs

There are three explanations for why much of our Christmas music is called carols , but there is no fact

Some musical authorities believed the word "carol" to be from a Latin origin meaning to dance in a ring"

Another theory is that the word stems from the same derivation as chorus

Yet another explanation is that 'carol' comes from a Middle English word 'carolen meaning to sing joyously

The more elaborate musically complex Christmas songs are generally called hymns

Christmas "songs" are more often composed during the 20th century

The first carol according to the Bible, was sung by a chorus of angels from Heaven

St Frances of Assisi is credited for the first significant carol He is reputed to have conducted a Christmas service singing the Gospel and giving the sermon

The ballad type carol, now considered the true carol, was an authentic creation of the people They were handed down by voice from generation to generation and were not scored until a much later date

In the 17th Century, the time of Puritanism carol singing was forbidden But the text and music of these carols were kept alive in the homes during this somber period

It was at this time that many of the carols were secretly printed It is thought that the first printing of a carol under that name was of A carolle of Huntynge in 1521

One of the earliest public printings was Silent Night appearing in 1840 Some authorities believe it was a folk song Others say it was written by a parish priest in Salsburg Austura Yet others say it was first called "Der Christnacht' and composed in 1818 by Frantz Xavier Gruber to words of Joseph Mohr The latter was the pastor of a Lutheran Church in Austria Gruber was the church organist

U. S. Communities Adopt Christmas Post Office Names

Each year thousands of cards and packages pour into certain tiny post offices throughout the country to be stamped with their special cancellation

Santa Claus, Indiana, is perhaps the most popular recipient Many cards and letters addressed to 'Santa Claus, Santa Claus, Indiana" arrive there, too

Bethlehem Pennsylvania, a city seven times the size of the original in Palestine, receives thousands of cards and packages from all over the country They are marked with special Christmas stamps and sent on

This story is repeated in six other Bethlehems one Santa It happens in Christmas Cove Maine, Noel, Virginia and Missouri

There are many towns throughout the 48 states named Nativity, Goodwill, Peace, Joy and Star.

WARM, WASHABLE, "WALKable" — These new, over-the-sock boots are designed to keep feet warm as toast indoors or out All ages love the style and the soft deep-pile innerlining

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear father, Achille Salvino, who died five years ago today, November 27, 1952.
Always so good, unselfish and kind,
None on this earth your equal we'll find,
Honorable and true in all of your ways,
Loving and faithful to the end of your days
Honest and liberal, ever upright,
Just in your judgment, always right,
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew,
One in a million, that father was you.
Five years have passed, our hearts are still sore,
As time rolls on, we miss you more;
A loving father, tender and kind,
What beautiful memories you left behind!
Sadly missed by sons, Albert and George

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Thomas Wayne Kovach, who died one year ago today, November 27, 1956.
We had a little treasure once,
He was our joy and pride,
We loved him, ah, pernaps too well,
For soon he slept and died
All is dark within our dwelling,
Lonely are our hearts today,
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away
Sadly missed by Mother, Father, Brothers and Sister.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Andrew Terensky, who died two years ago tomorrow, November 28, 1955
Two lonely years have passed away
Since our great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received that day
We still remember well.
Your end was sudden, Dad,
It made us weep and cry,
But, oh, the saddest part of all
You never said goodbye
God gave us strength and courage
To carry the blow, but what it means to miss you
God will only know.
You have taken your long, last journey
In the beautiful ship called Rest
Away from this world of sorrow
To the home of Eternal Rest.
Sadly missed by Wife and Children.

In loving memory of our dear uncle, Matthew Keresic, who died six years ago today, November 27, 1951.
Peaceful be thy rest dear uncle,
It is sweet to breathe thy name,
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
Sadly missed by his nieces, Mrs Louise Prezgar and Mrs. Helen Pletel.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Maria Vivio, who died nine years ago today, November 27, 1948.
Gone, dear mother, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember,
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But death has left a loneliness,
The world can never fill.
Sadly missed by her Children.

In loving memory of our dear brother and uncle, Matt Kerestic, who died six years ago today, November 27, 1951.
Memories are treasures no one can steal,
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal;
Loved dearly in life and living yet,
In the hearts of the ones who will never forget.
Sadly missed by sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Banich and Family of Windsor, Ont., Canada.

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Mary P. James, who passed away 14 years ago today, November 27, 1943.
Fourteen years is a very long time
But to us it is just a day,
You closed your tired eyes in rest,
And gently slipped away.
God eased your suffering, and gave to us
The strength to carry on
In empty, lonely years, without your smile and song.
We miss you. Oh! so very much
But would not have it other,
Your years of suffering stopped by Him,
Our own beloved mother.
Sadly missed by her Husband, Daughters, Son and Grandchildren.

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Jane Roley, who passed away 17 years ago today, November 27, 1940.
A shadow rests upon our home,
We miss your smiling face.
Whenever we turn, wherever we look,
We see your vacant place.
To your graveyard we often wander
And picture your face so dear;
In silence we stand in sorrow
For the one we loved so dear.
Sadly missed by her daughters, Gertrude Roley and Mrs. Mary Whetzel.

In loving memory of our dearest father, Achille Salvino, who passed away five years ago today, November 27, 1952.
We cannot bring the old days back,
Your hands we cannot touch,
Your face we cannot see
But we treasurre happy memories
Of our dear father whom we loved so much.
Like falling leaves the days drift by
But memories of you will never die,
But let this little token tell
That we still remember thee.
Sadly missed by his loved ones, son, Ernest Salvino and his daughter.

Flatter Father With Gifts of Own Furniture

Though it is said a man's home is his castle, a look at the furniture would often indicate otherwise.

Men like comfort and places in the home they can call their own. Why not give him furniture for this purpose as a Christmas gift!

First, see that he has a very comfortable chair. Leather, leatherette or plastic is especially good for fabric It's so easy to clean, he doesn't have to worry about spills. A matching footstool is a marvelous addition.

A handy table for current reading matter, smoking supplies and snacks would be appreciated

A good reading light completes his area of comfort.

A desk, all his own, is a wonderful gift, too.

If he owns specific reference or study books that the rest of the family seldom uses, give him his own bookcase!

Dad will certainly appreciate your thoughtfulness in giving him man-size, man-tailored furniture for Christmas.

Today's Toys Copy World in Miniature; Should Be Creative

Designed to bridge the gap between the wonder-world of childhood and the practical, adult world are a new and fascinating selection of toys spilling out of Santa's billion dollar pack.

According to Melvin Freud, president of the Toy Guidance Council. . . .an organization specializing in making it easier to buy toys for children of all ages, and all interests. . .toys should stimulate creative thought and activity and make learning fun.

NEW LOOK IN TOYS

Even tried and true favorites wear a new look; ABC blocks come in push-pull versions of jet planes; blackboards are attached to push and pull trains.

Play kits are slanted to discover aptitudes that may point to careers and hobbies. Gerder and panel building sets are based on the latest assembly principals of the construction industry; tile setting kits and jewelry design outfits pay extra dividends in decorative gifts.

ELECTRONICS, TOO

Electronic toys include teletype sets that really send messages, and miniature guided missile installations. All the latest national defense installations have their toyland prototypes.

Electric trains are fitted with Nike rocket equipment; train accessories now include realistic versions of every possible railroading operation.

Many toys are designed for limited space and apartment dwellers. A spinning top with rubber suction cup spins merrily in one spot. New playroom tables and chairs, game boards, doll carriages and doll beds fold away for compact storage.

FOR THE TOTS

"Steps To Learning," a scientifically gauged series for the 3 to 9 age groups has been pre-tested by educators. They help children adjust to school, acquire basic skills, learn arithmetic and master clock and calendar lore.

New water color crayon change from finger paints to water color paints to regulation crayons for triple-play appeal. "Magi-Paint," the powdered finger paint eliminates the usual sticky mess.

There's a greater variety than ever of musical toys including miniature organs and harps that really play.

GIRLS DELIGHT

Little girls will delight in the replicas of ranch houses and split level buildings created for 8 to 10 inch dolls and furnished with modern sectional pieces and new kitchen equipment.

Mechanical toys encompass exact reproductions of sports cars complete with steering wheel, gear shift, and windshield wiper.

By now it must be obvious that the major problem during Christmas, and after, will be keeping these fascinating play-and-learn toys out of adult hands.

Some Ideas on How to Trim Christmas Tree

This Christmas, try something new and different in the way of Christmas tree decor!

Here are some ideas that are simple to execute, and beautiful to behold!

For example, use gold balls in graduated sizes tied with plump shiny ribbons in the same color.

For a natural look, place fresh fruits, such as grapes and apples, with nuts and pinecones along the trunk of the tree like a Della Robbia garland.

You can even add sugar cookies cut-out in different shapes and iced in pastels.

Cut a tiny hole at the top of each cookie before you bake it. Afterwards, string a loop on each cookie, and hang on the branches of the tree.

Give your imagination free reign this Christmas, for there are endless ways you can add charm, color and glamour to your home!

Breakfast Low in Fat Cholesterel

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Instead of discussing tomorrow's turkey dinner, let's talk about breakfast, a low-fat-breakfast.

The older we get, the less fat out diet requires. I've often discussed this with you at great length.

Now, there appears to be some agreement among medical men that it's a good idea to cut down the fat intake of the diet for all ages.

A low-fat, low-cholesterol diet if it provides the proper balance, seems to increase the chances for maintaining good health and might possibly even increase the life span somewhat.

For heart patients, it is customary for physicians to restrict the fat and cholesterol content of the diet.

For one thing, such patients on low-fat, low-cholesterol diets have fewer attacks. More important, they generally live longer than those permitted to eat our everyday high-fat diet.

Doctors also have found that arteriosclerosis is less apt to occur in persons eating low-fat, low-cholesterol diets.

But maintaining such a diet often is difficult, and breakfast is where many of those on low-fat diets go astray.

To help those of you on such diets, the following list of foods usually eaten at breakfast notes both the fat and cholesterol content.

| Food | Fat (gm) | Cholesterol (mg.) |
|---|---|---|
| Orange juice, ½ cup | 0.2 | — |
| Cereal, 1 oz. dry weight | 0.6 | — |
| Bread, white, 1 slice | 0.9 | — |
| Sugar, 1 tsp. | — | — |
| Butter, 1 tsp. | 4.1 | 14.2 |
| Milk, whole, 1 cup | 9.5 | 14.2 |
| Milk, skim, 1 cup | 0.2 | 0.7 |
| Egg, 1 medium | 5.5 | 360.0 |
| Bacon, cooked, 2 slices | 8.8 | 16.0 |

As you can see, bacon, eggs and whole milk have a substantial fat and cholesterol content. So it might be a good idea to limit them, at least in part, if you are on a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet.

The basic cereal low-fat, low-cholesterol breakfast pattern probably consists of ½ cup of fresh orange juice, 1 ounce of cereal with ½ cup of whole milk and 1 tsp. of sugar, 2 slices of white bread with 1 tsp. of butter, 1 cup of skim milk, black coffee or tea.

If you want to cut the fat and cholesterol intake even more, you can use skim milk on the cereal.

World of TV—

New Director Finds 'Sgt. Bilko' A Team

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — There was a party going on the set of the Phil Silvers show and everyone was out of uniform. Nineteen filmed shows were in the can and a six-weeks vacation had been declared.

Everyone was feeling pretty loose.

Over at the buffet table, Pvt. Doberman was making eyes at the food. Cpl. Henshaw, clutching an empty glass, was trying to negotiate a refill. Pvt. Zimmerman was entertaining an appreciative audience with an impromptu routine.

"Look around at this bunch," said Aaron Ruben, director of the CBS-TV series, "what a wonderful bunch to work with. They get along with each other, they work well together .But you know when they offered me this job early last summer, I had real doubts about working with this group

Big Shoes To Fill

"There I was stepping into the shoes of Nat Hiken — the creator, writer, producer, director of the show. He had decided to pull out and it's no secret there was trepidation all around. Who coul follow Hiken? He's the greatest, a genius.

"What's more I had never even directed before. I'm a comedy writer — I've worked for the big ones, Caesar, Berle, Burns and Allen, Sam Levenson, Danny Thomas. But Phil thought my background was an advantage. He felt that the kind of guy they needed was one who had appreciation for a script, who knew comedy."

Ruben grubbed a cigarette from one of the crew. He recalled with a shudder the first show he directed for the series. "It was in July and when I stepped out in front of that group it was like plunging into cold water," he said.

"Resistance? No, you couldn't say there was resistance to me. But let's put it this way — these guys had been turning out one of TV's most successful shows for two years and they were out to size me up.

"By the end of the first two weeks I knew I had made it. And later, I learned why I had made it—it was because the guys in this show began to sense that I knew the value of the platoon, that I knew it wasn't just a star show.

"Phil is a brilliant performer. He illuminates everyone around him. He's fantastic. He sets the pace of the show But what many viewers probably don't appreciate is the balance the other guys add to Phil's performance. And when the guys knew that I saw it, that I wasn't out to schmear anybody, we were in"

Ruben looked over at Doberman who was ogling the delicatessen delicacies again. Somebody asked where Phil Silvers was and somebody else said he had gone home, that he had a touch of flu.

"You know the secret word on this show?" asked Ruben, "I'll tell you — tempo. We knock off 60 pages of script in 25 minutes. That's quite a clip.

"We had Kay Kendall — a tremendously talented woman — do a show with us and she was absolutely bewildered by our pace. 'But you all talk so fast,' she complained. It took her two days before she could fall in with us. And I guess that's my biggest contribution to this show — keeping that tempo.

Necessary Hazard

NEW YORK (UP) — Patrolman Carmine Azzato, enforcing New York's new anti-jaywalking campaign, said one jaywalker told him: "I've got to The only time my feet don't hurt is when I'm walking."

In Hollywood—

Actor in Blast at TV Pitch

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Television is getting tough with movie stars who scoff at the new medium, as evidenced this week when Richard Egan was threatened with boycott for attacking TV ad agencies.

Because Egan criticized the electronic medium during a recent four-week tour, the actor's agents have been notified by the Madison Avenue boys that there is a move afoot to blacklist him from future TV casting.

"I couldn't care less," the husky actor replied.

"Those guys don't know anything about drama nor entertainment. They're just a bunch of salesmen.

Actor, Not Pitchman

"I'm an actor, not a soap pitchman, and I'll be darned if I'll let them push me around so they can jump into the middle of a scene and sell products that half the public doesn't want or need to begin with."

A ruggedly handsome guy with an independent attitude, Egan admits his outspoken criticism of the men who run television may hurt his career.

"I'm not afraid of them," he grinned. "They may kick movies around, but they'll never knock us out of the box.

"Big studios like M-G-M are reduced to making commercials for TV—the industry that has almost put pictures out of business. Hollywood's attitude seems to be, 'let's not offend our enemy'.

"Look at what TV's done to people like Jackie Gleason and Sid Caesar. They didn't lose their ability. The smart boys on Madison Avenue said they weren't selling product. So off they went.

The intrepid Egan added that TV producers and directors are scared to death of the ad boys.

No Underdeveloped Ads

'You often find undeveloped story points in TV drama. But you never see an undeveloped commercial," Egan went on grimly.

"The big star of every TV show is the commercial. But they never warn you in advance, or advertise it that way. Commercials are filmed at costs as high as $50,000 for 20 seconds of air time"

Egan isn't on a sour grapes kick. He's turned down hundreds of video offers, accepting only four. Currently he's being touted for an Academy Award Oscar for his role in "Slaughter on 10th Avenue."

"How the devil can you do a dramatic story in 22 minutes?" he asks. "It takes longer than that to read the Sunday funnies

'TV builds up a story to an emotional climax, and then when the actor is ready to give his best effort they cut to the sales pitch.

"These gray flannel suit characters aren't artists, they're businessmen. And if anything ruins television you can bet that they will be responsible."

Greensburg Bus Line Fare Boost

HARRISBURG (UP) — Greensburg City Lines, Inc., will eliminate a 12½ cent token and use its flat 15 cent base cash fare next Monday for rides in the Greensburg, Youngwood, New Stanton and Foxtown areas.

The Public Utility Commission, which granted the change, said in addition to ending the token the line also will raise the cost of two-zone trips from 18 to 20 cents and three-zone rides from 25 to 30 cents. The company said the revisions would return $4,800 more revenue annually, needed to meet higher operating costs.
